After resisting state troopers from about 11:30 a. m. until 2 p. m. Tuesday, Edward James Eckert, 66, of Marlborough, father of 21 children, charged with shooting Francis Johnson, 39, of the same village, walked out of the front door of his house and was captured as his wife entered a rear door.

Eckert, who is charged with shooting Johnson in the upper right arm and shoulder with one shot from a 12-gauge double barrel shotgun following an argument over window screens, barricaded the front door of his house, placed an iron bar across the rear door, and told police they would have to come and get him.

With him in the house was a three-year-old son, who police said was the only one of eight children at home at the time of the shooting late yesterday morning. He is the father of several other children by another marriage, authorities said.

Peddler Is Held

Act Because Girl
Wouldn't Marry

Cumberland, R.I., Sept. 29 (AP)—A 22-year-old unemployed peddler was held today without bail on a charge of murder in the drowning of his former sweetheart, the daughter of a state representative.

Police Chief William J. Boyle quoted Francis J. Kelley as saying he pushed the girl, Mary J. Burns, 26, into a pond "and held her head under water until she stopped kicking" because she spurned his offer of marriage.

Kelley pleaded innocent at a special court session last night and was held for a hearing Oct. 12.

Boyle said Kelley told him that "she fought back when I first grabbed her—that's how I got these scratches on my face."

The police chief quoted the youth as telling this story: "He and the girl had been keeping company for some time. Recently she returned an engagement ring and class pin and broke their engagement."

"They went to a movie Monday night and then took a bus to the farm of a family with whom Kelley once resided as a ward."

After discussing their problems for several hours, they started for home along the edge of a pond. When they came to a spot where the water was about four feet deep he pushed her in and, losing his balance, tumbled after her.

"She fought desperately to get out of the water and nearly drowned me," the police chief quoted him as saying. "She scratched my face and tore out a lot of my hair in her frantic efforts to escape."

"But I succeeded in breaking away and grabbing hold of her head. I forced it down into the water and held it there for several minutes until I was sure she was dead."

"I didn't want anyone to marry her if I couldn't."

Two Electrical Union Heads
Won't Talk on Red Affiliation

Washington, Sept. 29 (AP)—Two officials of the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers refused today to tell a congressional committee whether they are or have been Communist Party members.

They are Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer, and Russell A. Nixon, Washington representative. Both said that as American citizens they did not have to answer such questions.

Nixon was ordered from the stand when he attempted to make a statement on his rights under the Constitution.

Asked that question by a House Labor Subcommittee, Emspak said he would stand on his constitutional rights. The Constitution says a man cannot be forced to give testimony tending to incriminate or degrade himself.

The government today barred the U.E. from representing workers at its atomic energy plants. The action was because U.E. officers have not signed non-Communist affidavits. All unions whose officers have not signed them were barred.

The House group, headed by Rep. Kersten (R-Mich.), is inquiring into Communist influences in labor unions.

Emspak was identified by James J. Conroy, a witness yesterday, as the mysterious "Com-

Washington, Sept. 29 (AP)—The government today barred its A-bomb plants to unions whose officers refuse to disavow Communism.

This action—on the heels of congressional charges that a network of Soviet spy rings tried during the war to feed atomic secrets to Moscow—stemmed from a doubled-barreled Atomic Energy Commission order.

It (a) posted "keep out" signs for two specific C.I.O. unions and (b) opened the way for official recognition of others only if they can qualify for certification by the National Labor Relations Board.

Except at Oak Ridge, union activity in all atomic plants has been sharply curtailed since the A-bomb project was launched. But a number of unions have been active in the hope that these curbs would be eased.

Today's new policy decision, however, ruled out any hope of those whose officers have failed to submit non-Communist oaths. These are required by the Taft-Hartley Act for N.L.R.B. certification.

The unions' singled out in the commission announcement are the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers and the C.I.O. United Public Workers.

A congressional committee heard testimony only yesterday from a self-described former Communist that the U.E. is "the largest Communist-dominated organization in the United States."

The Public Workers Union, with a large membership of government employees, also has been under scrutiny in Congress. The commission said, as it did of the U.E.: "Information is available concerning alleged Communist affiliation or association of certain officers of this union."

Other Developments
The commission's move to erect new safeguards against possible leaks of atomic secrets, its only U.E. Union official to refuse to develop testimony bearing on the issue of Reds-in-government. Among them:

1. The disclosure by William W. Remington that he has appealed a regional loyalty board's ruling of "reasonable grounds to believe" he was disloyal.

G.A.R. Sees Third
War in 10 Years

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 29 (AP)—The United States will be at war again within 10 years.

That's the consensus of six aged soldiers attending the 82nd annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Only two of the soldiers who fought in the Civil War have lived through three other major conflicts were optimistic about peace.

"No more wars," said Albert Woolson, 101, of Duluth, Minn. "It's all talk," added William N. Osborn, 104, of Joplin, Mo.

But 107-year-old James A. Hard of Rochester, N. Y., the oldest G.A.R. veteran, predicted "we'll have war in two years."

by Russians

Berlin, Sept. 29 (AP)—Nine Soviet fighter planes dangerously buzzed two American supply planes in a Soviet zone air corridor today, U. S. authorities announced.

The planes were flying supplies into Soviet-blockaded Berlin from the western zones.

American air officials said they were transmitting a written protest to the Russians, charging violation of air safety regulations and demanding remedial action.

These were the latest of several recent Soviet-perpetrated incidents in the air corridors which the Americans asserted violated four-power flying regulations and were designed to harass the blockade-busting air lift to Berlin.

Last week a Soviet fighter flew dangerously close to an American passenger transport. During the last week, also, the Americans protested a Soviet announcement of close formation flying by Russian aircraft, which violates air corridor rules, and a Soviet announcement of anti-aircraft firing practice in the corridors to a height of 10,000 feet.

25 Make Escape
Another potential point of tension developed around Berlin police said about 25 Germans allegedly conspired to force labor in Russian-operated uranium mines in Saxony made a daring escape last night.

The prisoners made their dash for freedom while the train on which they were riding was passing through the British sector of Berlin.

There have been reports recently in western-licensed German newspapers that labor drafts for the uranium mines have been increased by the Russians. Anti-Communists also have claimed persons under political persecution, especially Socialists, have been sent to the mines in increasing numbers. Thousands of men and women have been working the mines for the past three years.

A dispatch of the American-licensed Dena news agency, attributed to informed quarters in the Soviet zone's administration, declared the Russians were illegally reviving armament industries in their occupation zone, especially aircraft parts production.

Such activity—and allied intelligence sources said they had received similar reports—would constitute violation of four-power agreements for the demilitarization of Germany which began with the Potsdam Declaration.

Berliners, looking to the United Nations to attempt a solution of the four-power deadlock over their blockaded city noted that today was the 10th anniversary of the Munich pact, which gave Hitler the foothold he needed to smash Czechoslovakia.

The Socialist newspaper "Telegraf" said editorially:

"In Paris there are no words of frightened concession. There will not be a new Munich."

The Soviet official press, on the other hand said the western powers were trying to split the United Nations by bringing the Berlin crisis up for debate.

Dewey Insists on No Compromise

Text of Note on Reds

Paris, Sept. 29 (AP)—France, Britain and the United States charged in notes handed to the United Nations today that Russia menaces world peace with her Berlin blockade.

Three identical notes demanding early action by the U. N. Security Council were delivered to Secretary General Trygve Lie shortly after 4 p. m. in the Palais de Chaillot.

The text of the British note, identical with the others except for the substitutions said:

One: I have the honor, on behalf of the government of the United States of America, in the agreement with the governments of the French Republic and the United Kingdom, to draw your attention to the serious imposition by the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of restrictions on transport and communications between the western zones of occupation in Germany and Berlin, quite apart from the fact that it is in conflict with rights of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom, the government of the United States of America and the government of France, with regard to the occupation and administration of Berlin, this action by the Soviet government is contrary to its obligations under Article 2 of the charter of the United Nations and creates a threat to the peace within the meaning of Chapter VII of the charter.

Two—It is clear from the protracted exchange of notes and the conversations which have taken place on the initiative of the three governments between them and the Soviet government that the three governments, conscious of their obligation under the charter, to settle their disputes by peaceful means, have made every effort to resolve their differences directly with the Soviet government. Copies of the relevant documents are submitted separately, in particular, attention is drawn to the summary of the situation which is contained in the note of His Majesty's government and the governments of the United States of America and the French Republic dated September 26th-27th as follows:

"The issue between the Soviet government and the western occupying powers is, therefore, not that of technical difficulties in communications nor that of reaching agreement upon the conditions for the regulation of the currency for Berlin. The issue is that the Soviet government has clearly shown by its actions that it is attempting by illegal and coercive measures, in disregard of its obligations, to secure political objectives to which it is not entitled and which it could not achieve by peaceful means. It has resorted to blockade measures; it has threatened the Berlin population with starvation, disease and economic ruin; it has tolerated disorders and attempted to overthrow the duly elected municipal government of Berlin. The attitude and conduct of the Soviet government reveal sharply its purpose to continue its illegal and coercive blockade and its unlawful actions designed to reduce the status of the United States, the United Kingdom and France as occupying powers in Berlin to one of complete subordination to Soviet rule, and thus to obtain absolute authority over the economic, political and social life of the people of Berlin, and to incorporate the city in the Soviet zone."

"The Soviet government has thereby taken upon itself sole responsibility for creating a situation, in which further recourse to peaceful means, have made every effort to resolve their differences directly with the Soviet government," the notes said.

The notes were delivered to U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie in the Palais Chaillot, scene of the U.N. assembly session, shortly after 4 p. m.

From Moscow came an indication of what the Russian position may be. The authoritative New Times said the western powers, through violations of four-power agreements, have "exploded the legal basis which assured them the right of participation in the Berlin administration." It declared the appeal to the Security Council would fail.

The paper blamed the west for the breakdown of the Moscow negotiations over Berlin.

"It is not a matter of chance that this was the chosen moment when the assembly of the United Nations began work," New Times said. "Indeed, all this narrow-minded plan of Marshall-Bevin was timed ahead for this."

British sources said they did not believe the 11-nation Security Council will take action on the western charges before Monday. It was noted that the western notes did not request "urgent" action. The three governments were said to wish to avoid an appearance of trying to stampede the U.N. into hurried disposition of the case.

Lines Up Behind Russia
Yugoslavia lined up solidly behind the Soviet Union today.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj said during debate in the general assembly that the world's woes are due to the anti-Soviet policies of the western nations. Premier-Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia and his lieutenants recently were denounced by the Cominform for departing from Moscow's Communist line.

Kardelj listed the differences between the Russians and the west, point by point, and put his country on the side of the "people's democracies."

As Kardelj spoke, the western powers sent their identical notes to the U.N. calling for Security Council action in the Berlin crisis.

A British spokesman said the western powers decided yesterday not to call for urgent United Nations consideration of the east-west dispute. This decision was made for these reasons, he said:

1. There is no actual fighting in progress in Berlin.

2. There is no desire to stampede or high pressure the United Nations.

On the basis of this decision, the council is not likely to be summoned for the next three days. Monday appears the likeliest day for the next council meeting—especially as some time will be needed by the delegates to study the documentation accompanying the western communications.

A French spokesman said the western powers will ask the Security Council to impose provision measures to settle the Berlin dispute.

President Declares That
G.O.P. Has Hurt
Security; This Is Called Bunk

(By The Associated Press)

President Truman challenged the Republicans last night to furnish "real evidence" instead of "speeches" on Communist dangers in this country.

On a different theme, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey served notice that there will be no compromise of American principles and unity in the dispute with Russia over Berlin.

Mr. Truman, striking back at G.O.P. attacks on his administration's handling of subversive activities, charged in an Oklahoma City campaign address that as "the unwitting ally of Communism," the Republican Party has hurt national security.

The President added that the Communists want the Republicans to win the November elections because they think confusion and strife will follow.

"Utterly ridiculous," retorted Republican Senator Ferguson of Michigan, who heads an investigating committee looking into the government's loyalty program.

Ferguson said it is his party that has been "leading the fight against Communism in America."

Dewey, the G.O.P. presidential nominee, previously had promised to root out Communists who "have risen to positions of trust in our government."

Dewey Stresses World Affairs
The New York governor laid heavy stress on world affairs in his speeches yesterday in Spokane, Wash., and Missoula, Mont.

"As a united people," he said, "we stand shoulder to shoulder with American representatives at the United Nations meeting in Paris."

He said the United States must not allow itself to be "tricked" into a peace settlement even at this late hour.

"Peace today would be on firmer ground," Dewey said, "if those who may be recklessly planning war knew that—where there's a big job to be done there is only one kind of American."

Mr. Truman told his Oklahoma listeners that "this country is strong enough to resist and overcome all the forces of Communism."

But he said Republicans "ought to realize that their reckless tactics are not helping national security; they are hurting national security," he declared. G.O.P. congressional spy investigators have "impaired our nation's atomic energy program by their intemperate and unjustified attacks on our atomic scientists."

"So long as the F.B.I. and other security agencies can do their job without having the ground cut from under them by committees of Congress, we have little to fear from spies and subversives," the President said.

Wallace Raps Policy
Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party's presidential candidate, continued his attacks on U. S. foreign policy. In a speech in Dallas last night he argued that a fact-finding commission be set up to investigate "these recurrent war scares."

The former vice president contended that Secretary of Defense Forrestal built up these "scares"—"the Communist 'scare' and fear of Russia—in order to serve private oil interests operating in the Middle East."

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond and his States Rights Party running mate lashed out in the South at Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

Paris, Sept. 29 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France accused Russia before the bar of the United Nations today of menacing world peace with a blockade of Berlin which has brought Germany's first city to the brink of economic ruin.

On the tenth anniversary of the Munich pact which ignited the fuse of World War II, the three western powers told the U.N. in identical notes that the Soviet Union is bent upon driving them out of Berlin and bringing the city solely under Russian rule.

"It is clear from the protracted exchange of notes and the conversations which have taken place on the initiative of the three governments between them and the Soviet government that the three governments . . . have made every effort to resolve their differences directly with the Soviet government," the notes said.

The notes were delivered to U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie in the Palais Chaillot, scene of the U.N. assembly session, shortly after 4 p. m.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, Sept. 29 — The town last Saturday which did considerable damage in Saugerties and near Kingston raised havoc with the annual firemen's parade and inspection in Ellenville. Coming down from the north it struck the village shortly after 5 o'clock, a sharp gust of wind being followed by a thunder shower. The 500 participants in the parade—nine fire companies and six musical organizations—were to march up the full length of Center street after going down Canal to the east end, but the rain began when they were coming up Canal street and the parade finally broke line and scattered for cover. Before this happened spectators who had lined the streets already had disappeared. Following the parade and inspection the visiting companies were entertained by the local fire companies. What is believed to have been a malicious attempt to make trouble was the strewing of about five pounds of inch long nails, the kind used with wall board, along Maple avenue. They were picked up about half an hour before the parade was due to form—most of them in the hands of the Washington Fire Department, police officers and Trustee Joseph Gentile, Chief of Police Porter and members of the department have been investigating the outrage and it is understood that a survey of stores and construction projects under way in Ellenville shows that nails were of a type not sold or used here.

During the three-weeks registration for selective service a total of 747 men between the ages of 18 and 26 registered in the town of Wawarsing, according to Town Clerk Lawrence D. Chaff, registrar for the town. It is estimated that but about 50 per cent of the registrants were local people.

The Town Board of the town of Wawarsing has voted to retain an engineer to make an airport survey, the cost not to exceed $3,000, which sum the board has on hand for its airport project. With some 8,000 or more tickets sold, the attendance at the Grahamville Fair last Wednesday is estimated to have been about the same as last year. It was the 69th showing of this town of Never-sin Fair, since the days of the great Chicago Fair generally referred to as the "World's Fair." In the horse pulling contest, a feature always of great interest, Ross Bonnell of Grahamville won out in the heavy class, while James Muthig of Parkville, defending champion, won the lighter class.

Ben H. Terwilliger has been elected chairman and Foster Sheffield, commissioner of the Roundout Valley District, Boy Scouts. They succeed Joel Balotin and Clyde Benson, both of whom have resigned. Mr. Benson was named district operating chairman for leadership training. He succeeds Thomas J. Duffield, who was named district operating chairman for advancement, in place of Paul Griffin, who has moved from the district. Mr. Balotin, district chairman for four years, will remain as finance chairman.

A sign, perhaps, that summer is over is seen in the fact that only seven persons appeared before Judge Lonstein in traffic court last Monday evening. Of these only five paid $1 each for parking meter violations. The two others were fined for passing a red light and illegal parking.

The Noonday Club has decided to sponsor a community Halloween celebration. Committee in charge is composed of Mildred Spinapolic, Sidney D. Delaney, Donald Sprague, Herbert O. Hess, William R. Rose, Deyo W. Johnson, Joel Balotin and Julian Raper. Cost estimated at about $150. Parking meter collections continue to drop. For the week ended September 21 total collections were $223.91, a drop of almost $6 from the preceding week.

Ellenville school registrations increased 14 for the second week, to 1,239.

Adult education classes will begin in the Ellenville High School Monday evening, October 11, with John C. Braun as director. The program will run for 10 weeks, or 29 hours class attendance. It is open to all adult residents of Ellenville and vicinity. Subjects offered cover a wide range and include: Contract bridge for beginners, men's gym, women's gym, dressmaking, typing, elementary arithmetic, Americanization, driving instruction, conversational French and Spanish, public speaking, machine shop, welding, woodworking, instruments and appreciation of music, contemporary literature, American literature, effective writing and speaking, enjoying and understanding poetry, machinery and toy repair.

It is announced that Joel Balotin will serve as chairman of the big Scoutarama of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts, to be held in the municipal Auditorium, Kingston, April 23, 1949. Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Senior Scouts will participate and it is expected that upward of 1,000 will take part in the program.

Lutherans Launch Sunday School by Mail Program

On October 3 the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod will launch one of the most ambitious programs ever undertaken in this country to reach children not now enrolled in Sunday schools. It has been announced by Dr. J. W. Bohnen, president of the church body. The project, which will be called "Sunday School by Mail," is under the joint sponsorship of the Church's Board for Missions in North and South America, its Board for Parish Education and the International Lutheran Hour, broadcast weekly over more than 1,000 stations.

Under the slogan "Reach the Unreachable," Sunday School by Mail proposes to bring the Christian message to children living in distant, isolated sections of the country, as well as to children in metropolitan areas who for one reason or another are not attending regular Sunday schools.

Hollywood Bowl Opening Official announcement of the "opening" of Sunday School by Mail will be made by Dr. Walter A. Maier at a mass meeting to be broadcast over the Lutheran Hour from Hollywood Bowl, California, on October 3. Children will be enrolled in the planned program through locally sponsored newspaper advertisements and spot announcements on radio stations.

Sunday School by Mail will be the first major attempt by an American church body to bring a regular course of Bible-centered Christian study into the homes of unchurched people. Parents will be urged to cooperate by providing time and place for the new program in their home. At the same time, parents are asked to take an active part in the study program.

How It Works Initial tests of the new program were made by the Canadian districts of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. A mother of two children wrote from Lundy, British Columbia, on April 3, 1948:

"Our children have been receiving your Sunday School papers for over a month now. I thought I should write to tell you that both the children and we, the parents, are pleased. I like the way you send each one's papers in a different envelope; it seems to make the children feel that it truly belongs to them. They dash out every day to see if there is any mail and, when they do get their letters, that really is a big day for them. All during the week the children read the lessons out loud, to Daddy until they both know them well, then on Sunday we have a real Sunday School. Sunday morning after breakfast they both sit together and I sit across from them (teacher fashion), then we say a prayer—read the lessons again, then get out the yellow question papers. Marlene has to answer hers first and then Donny answers his."

Twenty-six district directors have been appointed throughout the United States who will maintain direct contact by mail with children enrolled in the program. All expenses will be borne by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, including postage used in returning corrected worksheets and in sending new lessons.

If Sunday School by Mail is successful on a nation-wide scale, plans call for extending the program on a world-wide front in various languages.

Postmen to Meet The fall meeting of the Delaware-Hudson District Rural Letter Carriers' Association will be held Saturday at 7 p. m. in Bullville Grange. There will be a turkey dinner. Greene County Man Sues State for $7,000

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29 (AP)—New York state faces suit for alleged "destruction, defacement and desecration of graves of pet dogs, and four headstones for such graves."

The claim for $2,000 was one section of damages contained in a suit filed yesterday in the Court of Claims by George Chaffour of Potosi, Mo. He seeks a total of $7,000 for permanent appropriation of property by the state for widening a highway in Greene county.

The dog cemetery was not on the property appropriated, Chaffour said. But he added, the flower beds were ruined and the headstones knocked down by bulldozers that traveled over the cemetery.

mail and, when they do get their letters, that really is a big day for them. All during the week the children read the lessons out loud, to Daddy until they both know them well, then on Sunday we have a real Sunday School. Sunday morning after breakfast they both sit together and I sit across from them (teacher fashion), then we say a prayer—read the lessons again, then get out the yellow question papers. Marlene has to answer hers first and then Donny answers his."

Twenty-six district directors have been appointed throughout the United States who will maintain direct contact by mail with children enrolled in the program. All expenses will be borne by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, including postage used in returning corrected worksheets and in sending new lessons.

Hedy Drops Case
Los Angeles, Sept. 29 (AP)—Hedy Lamarr has dropped a $200,000 damage suit against Look magazine. Her attorney, Jerry Giesler, filed a dismissal of the action in Superior Court yesterday. He declined to give the reason. The actress had charged Look with indicating she had undergone plastic surgery on her nose.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Sept. 28—Conrad Iyatt of Troy spent the week-end with his cousin, Robert Adsit.

John Mack, well-known Walden fruit grower, was selling McIntosh apples in this section last week. He reports a heavy early drop of apples in Orange county as a result of the drought.

Valter B. Ecker, whose death at Endicott September 11 was reported in this column, was 69 years of age. He had been in apparent good health, attending a party the previous evening and working in his garden on the day of his death. His son, Albert B. Ecker, is employed at the Endicott I.B.M. plant.

Looking Backward.
Sept. 28, 1910—Allaben—Our new storekeeper, Harvey Giles, is doing a good business. . . . Mrs. M. Alvord of Jersey City is teaching the Forest Valley school and Miss Angie D. Many trees, especially soft maples, have been burned by the drought. A large area of vegetation on the ridge along the south side of the east reservoir basin has been scathed, while the oak trees on the rocky terrain between Glenford and West Hurley have also been hard hit by the prolonged dry spell.

Had a Birthday
Otis Wright, west end house painter who was brought up in the old village of Shokan, had another birthday Sunday. Otis is enjoying fair health and is looking forward to going to St. Petersburg again this winter. He has a daughter, Mrs. Clarke Puffer of Schenectady, the former Lillian Wright, and two granddaughters, Jane and Ruth Puffer. Among his cousins are Grace Davis and Mabel Boice of Kingston and Elizabeth Giles.

Elder Arnold Bellows, pastor of the local O. S. Baptist Church, had an interesting story in last week's issue of the Catskill Mountain (Margaretville) News, titled "Indian Legend of the Kaaterskill Falls."

Mrs. Charles Constable of Phoenix is spending a few days at the home of Bertha Constable.

At It Again
Raccoons are up to their old tricks in vegetable gardens and cornfields, being more than usually destructive in some places. These nocturnal marauders sure can make a mess of things in a garden. . . . Where are all the coon-hunters around here, anyway? We recall how Joe Ogden and Merlin (Dutch) DuBois, now seasoned war veterans, used to go out nights after these pesky varmints. . . . A good way to hunt 'em is to drive your car into a field and throw the headlights on the trees which fringe the stone walls in these parts. . . . We hear that just before the ponds on George W. Pratt's mountain place dried up, the coons went fishing and cleaned 'em up. . . . Raccoons as well as get the rabies: one bit Myrtle Wilbur of Prattsville in several places on her arm while she was feeding chickens, and the animal was found upon examination to have rabies, so Mrs. Wilbur went to a doctor for preventive treatment.

Jack Henderson was lucky in a way, one night earlier in the month, when his 1930 car smashed into the curb at the foot of Pine Hill and was demolished, he escaped without injuries. . . . An echo of the late, unlamented hot spell: E. R. Moore of Catskill lost 100 laying hens when the birds, seeking a cool spot, huddled together and smothered to death. Pulletts, crowding together when caught in a heavy shower, have been known to suffer a similar fate. . . . A Connecticut couple call their Shandaken summer cottage "The Squirrel Cage," while another family have named theirs "Chipmunk Lodge." Another quaint name, which no one seems to have thought of as yet, would be "The Nut House."

One of the things that we all enjoy in a bridge game is the strategy in planning that goes into it. Today's hand was played some time ago with Gen. Robert J. Gill, of Baltimore, Md. The strategy employed by the declarer was very clever, but the general, who handled German war prisoners during the war and later was assistant to the U. S. Chief Justice at the Nurnberg trials, is familiar with strategy himself. His attack in this hand was well timed.

Declarer won the opening lead of the spade deuce in dummy with the ace and immediately took three rounds of trumps. Now the question was, did the general have a six or seven card club suit? If he had a six card club suit and three diamonds (South was quite certain that the opening lead of the deuce of spades was a singleton), it did not look as if declarer had any chance to make the contract. If he could find the general with a seven card club suit and just the king and one diamond, he could see a way to make the hand.

At this point declarer cashed the ace of clubs, then the ace of diamonds. He was hoping that the general would have to win the second diamond with the king. He could cash a high club, but he would have nothing but clubs left and would have to lead one which declarer could trump in dummy and discard a loser from his own hand. Thus South would lose only two diamonds and a club.

However, the general was on his toes and when declarer led the ace of diamonds, he quickly dropped his king. Now, when the second diamond was led, East won, cashed another diamond and the jack of clubs, then led the queen of spades; and declarer still had to lose a spade trick.

William Ray, who still charges 15 cents for a haircut, hasn't "had time to raise my prices—my business keeps me too busy." Ray, 80, runs this tiny one-chair shop in Lowell, O., and established the 15-cent haircut, 10-cent shave prices back in 1890.

Riseley Will Take Part in Maneuvers Put on by Marines

Oceanside, Calif., Sept. 29—Marine Colonel James P. Riseley, son of Mrs. J. H. Riseley, 47 St. James street, Kingston, N. Y., will participate in amphibious training exercises in Southern California next month.

Riseley, a graduate of U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is a member of the Troop Training Unit, Amphibious Training Command of the Pacific fleet, here at Camp Joseph H. Pendleton. He will be one of about 19,000 marines and navy personnel participating in the operation.

The amphibious exercise, under the command of Rear Admiral B. J. Rodgers, U.S.N., will include 56 ships and 320 planes. Amphibious landings will be staged at San Clemente Island and at Camp Pendleton. Use of live ammunition from gunfire support ships and planes will lend an air of reality to the San Clemente landings.

Marine Maj. Gen. J. T. Walker, Colonel Riseley's commanding general, will be in command of the unit that supervises training of troop units which participate in landing phases of the exercises.

The colonel, who holds twelve campaign ribbons, including the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, and the Presidential Unit Citation, will assist in the troop training.

The faculty and about 600 students from the Army's Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., will observe amphibious warfare techniques used in the maneuvers.

Hanley to Enter Hospital
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29 (AP)—Acting Gov. Joe R. Hanley will undergo a two-day physical examination next week. The 72-year-old lieutenant governor said yesterday he would enter Hudson City Hospital at Hudson on Monday for a "complete physical checkup." "There's absolutely nothing wrong with me," Hanley said. He called the examination a "routine matter."

The faculty and about 600 students from the Army's Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., will observe amphibious warfare techniques used in the maneuvers.

Hanley to Enter Hospital
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29 (AP)—Acting Gov. Joe R. Hanley will undergo a two-day physical examination next week. The 72-year-old lieutenant governor said yesterday he would enter Hudson City Hospital at Hudson on Monday for a "complete physical checkup." "There's absolutely nothing wrong with me," Hanley said. He called the examination a "routine matter."

James Macklin of Oswego, N. Y., staggered as she came under the wire—last in the field. The driver, Charlie Fleming, pulled her up but she crumpled to the track. The veterinarian called it a heart attack.

Oceanside, Calif., Sept. 29—Marine Colonel James P. Riseley, son of Mrs. J. H. Riseley, 47 St. James street, Kingston, N. Y., will participate in amphibious training exercises in Southern California next month.

Riseley, a graduate of U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is a member of the Troop Training Unit, Amphibious Training Command of the Pacific fleet, here at Camp Joseph H. Pendleton. He will be one of about 19,000 marines and navy personnel participating in the operation.

The amphibious exercise, under the command of Rear Admiral B. J. Rodgers, U.S.N., will include 56 ships and 320 planes. Amphibious landings will be staged at San Clemente Island and at Camp Pendleton. Use of live ammunition from gunfire support ships and planes will lend an air of reality to the San Clemente landings.

The crane, a bird, enjoys fish for its meal . . . the crane, a machine, "feeds" on iron and steel! Clearly, crane's one of those words with more than one meaning. It can fool you.

HARD WORK
The proverbial sturdy virtues of the Dutch people are laying the groundwork for an early recovery from war-made conditions. Industry, especially, has done well, production having reached a point above the 1938 mark. Steel has doubled its pre-war output. This is credited to the fact that the government has been able to inspire confidence in the people and thus to get full co-operation. Rationing and other restrictions resulting from a controlled economy are accepted as necessary evils, with the ultimate aim of a free enterprise system. The ten per cent of the arable land which was inundated by salt water has taken three years to reclaim, but is now under cultivation. Taxes are being paid.

Like every other country in Europe, however, Holland faces the fact that exports must reach a point much higher than the pre-war level. This situation is complicated by the loss of colonial income. The Benelux organization is expected to help in the future, but needs aid from the Economic Co-operation Administration to get it going.

The straightforward, matter-of-fact facing of problems and the forthright buckling down to hard work, with no backward looks and no self-pity, are perhaps characteristic of the Dutch. But they have no copy-right on this method. Other Europeans might with profit follow their example.

LAST STAND FOR HORSES
One of the last stands of the horse as a work animal in the mechanical age is being made in the unlikely environs of the city. Among the few jobs still held by the horse on his own merits is that of pulling the wagon from which the city milkman makes his deliveries to doorsteps in the small hours of the morning. He still holds this job because he can bring to it brains as well as brawn.

The mechanics of the new age have fitted the milk wagon with rubber tires instead of steel, to reduce the dawn clatter on the pavements. Sometimes the horse gets rubber shoes, to muffle the sound of his rhythmic steps. But the mechanics have not been able to take the horse from between the shafts and substitute a gasoline engine. The engine cannot be taught the route, where to go and when to stop, to respond to a soft whistle from 50 yards away.

They say the scientists can do 'most anything. It may be so. We'd hate to see them take the milk wagon job away from our sturdy friend. The milkman would be a little lonely in the dark morning, too, with only a gasoline engine and mechanical brain for company.

THE FOURTH TAFT
There'll always be a Taft, Senator Robert's son, William Howard Taft III, has been named special assistant to the chief of the Economic Cooperation Administration mission to Ireland. Young Taft is an English instructor at Yale University, where he has been specializing in Irish civilization and customs.

He makes the fourth generation of his family to enter public service. The names of his father, the senator, and his grandfather, the President and chief justice, are well known. Less familiar is the fact that President Taft's father, Judge Alphonso Taft, was secretary of war and attorney-general in the Grant administration.

Now that the newest Taft has entered the government service, he may add new laurels to a family which already has far more than most.

WE NEED A LAW
Miss Edna Lonigan raises an interesting point in an article in "Human Events":
"It can't be true," say the pseudo-liberals. 'The Grand Jury would have indicted. The FBI would have proved them guilty.' But guilty of what? Most American followers of the N.K.V.D. have committed no crime. They have violated no law. If every statement in the testimony of Miss Bentley and Mr. Chambers is proved true, the Grand Jury will still find it difficult to indict. We have no law compelling Government employees to propose only ideas that are for the good of their country."
That is why such committees as the Thomas, the Ferguson and the Revercomb committees are having such a difficult time of it. Let us take the Hiss case as an example. It has not been established that Alger Hiss is a Communist, a Communist agent, a Russian spy, an N.K.V.D. agent or even a fellow-traveler. All that has been proved about Hiss is that he once kept some very bad company and tried to cover up and failed. If there is more evidence on Hiss, the President refuses to permit Congress to have it and the American people to know it. And under the law, the President has a legal right to keep those files secret as long as he chooses. The American people have no legal rights in the matter.

We may assume that all those who decline to answer questions on the ground that to answer would incriminate them are guilty of some offense. Otherwise, nothing that they said could incriminate them. They have been advised by their lawyers that they have a legal and constitutional right to silence. We know from the investigations of the Dies Committee, the Rapp-Coudert Committee in New York, the California Legislative Investigation, the Canadian report and other sources that Soviet Russia has been operating in this country, as she has in every country, through natives directed by Europeans. The more native the native, the better he is for the kind of work they need to do. For, like Browder, ancestry goes back to colonial times, he is obviously a better man than Jay Lovestone or Ben Gitlow, who are of recent immigrant stock.

This pattern is universal. One meets it in Korea, in Germany, in China, in Czechoslovakia. It is the American pattern. But it is not an illegal pattern. Certainly, Louise Bernstein-Berman has a right to serve mankind as she chooses. She places herself on the lofty pedestal of noble service. Tommy Manville spends his money on gals and mink coats; she spends hers on the underdog. So does John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Is anything wrong? What about Mr. Adams? She legally refuses to answer about him—to answer would incriminate her. And that is her legal right. Was Mr. Adams an underdog or a spy?

While he was tramping around his country, the Hiss case exposed him as a spy and tried to trace him down, but he was permitted to leave the United States with valuable documents. What is the FBI record on Adams? That secret has been guarded by President Truman and is only now being forced out. And so far there is no record that Mrs. Branstetter did anything contrary to the law, except her own acknowledgment that if she had it, it would incriminate her. And that is the statement does not raise the presumption of guilt no matter what you or I may think about it.

There is, however, this essential difference between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and this lady. Through his foundations or personally, he has publicly accounted for his contributions. The American people can't see it. In his money, Mrs. B. B. inherited her money from a first father who earned it in canned groceries. She has spent her money without accounting to the public. That, too, is legally her right. She can spend it on dogs, cats, philosophies, artists, men and women, spies and jewelry, Communists or prohibitionists as she will. It is all within the law. So how does the nation protect itself against its own sons and daughters? Ask Jan Masaryk! Maybe now he knows.

That Body of Yours

DIFFERENT KINDS OF HEART DISEASE
We are hearing and reading so much about friends and acquaintances being attacked by coronary thrombosis that we are forgetting that this is only one form of heart disease. We should remember that there can be an inflamed condition of the lining of the heart which interferes with the valves flitting properly into their places. This poorly fitting valve allows blood to leak back into a heart chamber, and we call it a leaking heart or a heart with a murmur.

Another form of heart disease is where the walls of the heart which are made of tissue get weak and lose the power to pump the blood to all parts of the body. Both these kinds of heart disease—leaking valves and weak muscular walls—are caused by infection.

In "Hygiene," the health magazine, Dr. Louis Fingersh Bishop, Jr., the noted heart authority, states that hearts and automobiles have much in common. "If the automobile is new it will stand much abuse, and one can leave it in front of one's door and step in at night and morning without hesitation. In the same way, young people's hearts are seldom injured by physical exertion; their only caution must be to keep away from things that cause rheumatism and its first cousin, tonsillitis."

With an old car or old heart, more care must be taken. Neither should travel at a fast rate, nor use too much fuel, nor eat food of poor quality, nor pay immediate attention to anything that disturbs its natural or easy running.

However, no matter what the condition of the heart or the form of heart disease present, the heart will keep on beating just as an old car will keep running if given proper attention. Today, the heart specialist can keep the heart going within its limits, just as a good car mechanic, by careful attention, can keep an old car on the road for years.

Modern heart treatment does some wonderful things, and many a man who formerly would have been condemned as a hopeless invalid is today leading a happy life because he has been taught by proper medical advice how to live with the heart he has.

Why Worry About Your Heart

Don't Take Us Too Seriously, Comrades

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington — President Truman has been privately turning on the heat to ease out his chief of staff, 73-year-old elder statesman Adm. William D. Leahy.

Mr. Truman, who hates to fire anyone himself, recently called in Leahy's close friend, Adm. Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations and the man who really runs the navy. Addressing Denfeld as "Lou," though he usually calls him "Admiral," Truman said: "Lou, I want you to do something for me. I want you to ask Leahy to retire."

"I like the old man," the President continued, "but he's outgrown his usefulness. I just hate to do this but you can find a way of suggesting it to him. When I first came here, he offered to resign and I said no. Then last year he offered to resign again, and I asked him to stay. So it's very embarrassing to me and I can't very well ask him myself."

Admiral Denfeld, who has known Leahy all his life, demurred. "I suppose Secretary Forrestal has been telling you that I have two votes in the joint chiefs of staff—mine and Leahy's," he said. "But just look at the record. You'll find Leahy voted against me most of the time."

"He's gotten too reactionary," countered the President. "He and George Marshall are hardly of speaking terms. Everything Marshall proposes, Leahy tears to pieces. Clark Clifford tells me the public reaction to him is bad."

Denfeld replied that he didn't see how he could possibly ask Admiral Leahy to retire. "He's my superior," he said, "and I can't go to him with a proposal like that."

"Leahy, Ambassador to Spain?" "Well, figure out some big job we can give him," countered the President. "I want him to retire in a blaze of glory. After his career he deserves it. Think up some important mission we can send him on—something really important."

Admiral Denfeld promised to look into the matter, came back a few days later with the idea that Admiral Leahy be appointed U. S. Ambassador to Spain. Leahy had already served as ambassador to France and Governor of Puerto Rico, has something of a diplomatic background and Truman was delighted with the idea. However, he overlooked the fact that we have no diplomatic relations with Spain, and have agreed not to appoint an ambassador until the Franco government is recognized by the United Nations.

This fact was promptly brought to Mr. Truman's attention when he suggested that Leahy become ambassador to Spain. The State Department was emphatic and adamant. No ambassador, it said—not even Admiral Leahy—would be sent to Madrid.

Mr. Truman is still looking for a job for Admiral Leahy.

Gouzenko Shuns Congress
For weeks the House Un-American Activities Committee has been trying to make contact with Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet code clerk who jarred the world with his sensational revelations on Russia's atomic spy ring in Canada.

Gouzenko, however, is living under another name on a Canadian farm closely guarded by the Canadian government, which doesn't trust the headline-hunting American Congressmen to keep his identity secret.

Once the committee almost got to Gouzenko, but upset its own appeal. Arrangements had been made with Prime Minister Mackenzie King who agreed to meet committee members secretly in Ottawa for further discussions.

Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania, Richard Nixon of California and Ed Herbert of Louisiana set out in strictest secrecy. They even left separately and took different routes to the railroad station to throw off suspicion.

But when the three Congressmen reached New York they were greeted with glaring headlines revealing their plans. A member of the committee had leaked the whole story to the press.

Since then the committee has got the royal brush-off from the Canadian government.

Formula of Face-Saving for All Nations in Berlin Dispute Is Important Consideration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 29.—If there isn't to be war, what is the way out? This question comes as a logical sequel to the off-heard comments hereabouts that, of course, Russia will not press her harassment in Berlin to the point of forcing an open conflict.

There are various ways of disposing of the dispute without humiliation to any nation. A formula of this nature is always an important consideration in attempting to compose international friction.

Unfortunately pride enters into controversies to the degree that partisans in each country insist there can be no recession or even modification of a position adopted. Thus one explanation for the right-about-face which Stalin took after agreeing to a lifting of the blockade was the pressure from his own Communist party leaders that such a move would be interpreted as a confession of error and diplomatic defeat.

The ideal way out of acute disputes of this kind is to achieve a solution that doesn't offend the sensibilities on either side.

Such a procedure could come about if the United Nations, after hearing the full debate on the issues, ordered a form of mediation in which both sides accept certain conditions temporarily pending the outcome of the mediation.

If the United Nations is to succeed as an instrumentality of peace-making it must look upon the friction between Russia, on the one hand, and the three western powers on the other, as in the same categories as any other dispute that threatens peace or an outbreak of armed conflict.

The first step in mediation is to achieve the status quo or a condition which will permit further negotiation.

It is apparent from a reading of the "White Paper" given out by the State Department here that the United States did not wish to negotiate "under duress" and insisted on a lifting of the blockade as a pre-condition to a discussion of overall issues that are really in the background of the whole dispute between the East and the West.

The western powers did nevertheless negotiate under duress as the evidence of recent weeks plainly discloses. Just why the allies did not request a "temporary" lifting of the blockade, with the understanding that other questions would then be explored, is difficult to understand. It could have been agreed at the same time that such "temporary" solution was not to be regarded as prejudicing the eventual position of either side in the negotiations.

It may be that the allied spokesmen were more concerned with pride of public position on the Berlin blockade than with the broad questions that must be settled if incidents like the Berlin blockade are to be ended.

Thus, for instance, it is stated that a fundamental position taken by the western representatives was that the blockade was illegal and that to concede it even on a temporary basis would have been to condone illegality. The trouble with that argument is that the world isn't interested in lawyer-like approaches to a negotiation that could conceivably, if it collapses, bring bloodshed once more to countless numbers of young men.

The issues are too important to be allowed to become acute on narrow or technical grounds. The big question at issue is what shall be the future of Germany. The western allies and Russia must come to grips on that sooner or later and make a stand which will be justified before all the world. No such fundamental position has been taken since the war's end. Instead there have been rival plans concerning the future of Germany—ranging all the way from dismemberment to ruralization. It seems incredible that the western representatives should not have come to an agreement as to whether Germany must be restored to the family of nations as a potential ally in the world union against aggression by any power or whether Germany shall continue as a country kept in a turmoil between east and west and ultimately furnishing the cause of another world war.

There is considerable basis for further negotiation, and the U.N. can order the Disarmament Committee to discuss the issues that are really in the background of the whole dispute between the East and the West.

Questions—Answers

Q—How old is Lambeth Palace in London?
A—This palace, the residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, was built on grounds owned by the see of Canterbury since about 1190. The crypt, dating from the late 12th century, is beneath the 15th century chapel and constitutes the oldest portion of the building.

Q—What part of the anatomy is called the third lung?
A—The skin is spoken of as the third lung since twice as much waste matter is discharged from the body by means of the skin as through the lungs.

Q—Were the first settlers in Massachusetts Puritans or Pilgrims?
A—Pilgrims. They were the first company of Separatists to come to America, landing at Plymouth.

Q—How does the cricket produce its chirping sound?
A—A heavy vein on the upper wings has a roughened surface that acts as a file. On the under side of the top wings is a scraper. When the cricket elevates the wings and then rubs the scraper over the file, he produces the high pitched sound. Only the males have these organs.

Q—Does the government limit the power of radio stations?
A—The government limits the power of radio stations to 50,000 watts.

Pope Says Women In More Peril Now

New York City, Sept. 29 (AP)—Pope Pius XII said today the modern young woman, because of her freedom of worldliness, is in more peril than the woman of past generations.

"She has the illusion of experience and believes herself, on her own authority, superior to the young women of past generations," the Pontiff told representatives of the Society for the Protection of Young Women.

The experience is superficial, he continued, to guard her against the roguery and hypocrisy of seducers. "She believes herself able with impunity to read everything, see everything, try everything, taste everything. She is disarmed before the peril."

The Pope urged the group, holding its 11th international congress, to extend its efforts throughout the world. The society, founded in Switzerland and represented by branches in many European countries, is devoted to the rehabilitation of wayward women.

gram which stirred the Dixie Democratic rebellion.

The South Carolina governor said in a statement he was disappointed that Mr. Truman "has seen fit not to accept" an invitation to speak in that state and "explain to our people why he saw fit to abandon the historic position of the Democratic Party on states rights by sending his so-called civil rights message to Congress."

Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi said in a speech at Winona, Miss., that "President Truman has no regard for the safety of the country. Otherwise, he would not have issued his non-segregation order in the armed forces over the protest of his top military leaders."

To Please Pressure Groups

The States Rights vice-presidential candidate said the President's actions were taken "to please pressure groups."

The No. 2 Republican candidate, Gov. Earl Warren, carried his "unity" theme into New Jersey today. He told a Hartford, Conn., rally last night that Americans could stave off a "formidable" threat of economic disaster by returning to the fundamentals of industry, thrift and unity. He will make a major speech in Newark tonight and another in Manhattan tomorrow.

Senator Alben W. Barkley, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, pressed his "get-out-the-vote" drive in New York state with speeches scheduled today at Buffalo, North Tonawanda and Niagara Falls.

Dewey's Send Wreath

Los Angeles, Sept. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Anna F. Jones, 65, dropped dead of a heart attack as she was about to enter the Hollywood Bowl last Friday night to hear Gov. Thomas E. Dewey speak. At her funeral yesterday, a large bouquet of chrysanthemums was accompanied by a card bearing the names of the Republican presidential candidate and his wife.

"It was a wonderful gesture," said Frank Jones, cement worker, her husband.

Chimney Fire

Firemen checked a chimney fire in a house owned by Charles Derham, at 7 East Pierpont street early this morning. The call was at 5:40 a. m., and firemen reported that burning soot at the bottom of a chimney in the apartment of Lloyd Miller, had caused slight damage to the floor and bursboard.

Remington announced through his attorney that he has asked the President's loyalty review board to let him confront the Vassar graduate and cross-examine her.

During the period covered by her testimony, Remington was an employee of the War Production Board. His job at the Commerce Department was to provide cover for a board which passed on what exports could be made to Russia.

Blames G.O.P.

A campaign speech charge by President Truman that "the Republicans have impeded and made more difficult our efforts to cope with Communism in this country."

Speaking at Oklahoma City, Mr. Truman contended the Republicans have tried to "usurp" the functions of federal grand juries and the courts. He said they have impeded the atomic program by "intemperate and unjustified attacks" on scientists, without producing "any significant information about Communist espionage which the F.B.I. did not already have."

The President also declared that the Communists want the Republicans to win the election because they think confusion and strife will follow.

A retort from Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) that Mr. Truman's remarks were "utterly ridiculous." Ferguson said the Republicans have been leading the fight against Communism.

It was the Senate investigating committee headed by Ferguson which first brought Miss Bentley's story of wartime spying to light.

4. Word from the Justice Department that it has taken "under advisement" a request for an investigation of the way Rep. J. Parnis Thomas (R-N.J.) has run his office.

Thomas Unafraid

Thomas is chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee. On Monday the committee charged the Truman administration with "inexcusable" failure to move against a "Soviet espionage conspiracy" in the United States during World War 2.

Thomas said of the Justice Department disclosure: "I refuse to be intimidated."

"The request for an investigation came from 17 New Jersey lawyers. Clipped to their petition was a file of newspaper columns by Drew Pearson, discussing the handling of Thomas' payroll."

Lawyers said they are "deeply concerned" over Pearson's charges.

5. A promise by Thomas that his committee's closed-door spy hearings will continue for several weeks with at least 20 more witnesses to be heard.

The charge of Communist domination hurled at the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers Union came during a hearing before a House Labor Subcommittee inquiring into Red infiltration into American labor unions.

The witness was James J. Conroy, who said he was a former member of both the Communist Party and the U.E.

James J. Matles, organization director for the union, retorted that Conroy "is lying." But he refused to answer committee questions as to whether he is or ever was a Communist.

The Atomic Energy Commission rap at the union made no reference to the recent Congressional charges of atomic spying. Chairman David E. Lilienthal announced the commission's action against both the U.E. and the Public Workers Union in separate letters to Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, and William B. Harrell, business manager of the University of Chicago.

G. E. and the University of Chicago operate atomic plants under contract with the government.

Must Be Loyal

In both letters, as well as in a third to N.L.R.B. Chairman Paul M. Herzog, Lilienthal said all atomic energy facilities must be operated "in a matter best calculated to assure that those who participate in the program are loyal to the United States."

Lilienthal noted in his letter to Wilson that G. E. felt it might jeopardize its relations with U. E. in other non-atomic plants if it refused on its own authority to recognize the union at the New Knolls II Atomic Power Laboratory being set up at Schenectady, N. Y.

Hence his letter was intended as a commission directive to the company.

G. E. told the commission today, however, that the commission's latest move to assure loyalty of workers on its projects is not adequate.

L. R. Boulware, G. E. vice president in charge of employee relations, made the statement in a letter saying G. E. will "comply fully" with commission directions to refuse to recognize the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers at its New Knolls II Atomic Power Laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y.

G. E. said:

"It is unfortunately still perfectly legal for a union member or a union official to be a Communist, even though he has perhaps taken an oath to 'work for the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence.'"

In the case of the United Public Workers, Lilienthal wrote Harrell that the commission has been advised a number of unions have been active in organizational work at the University of Chicago's Argonne atomic project. So far as the U.P.W. is concerned, the chairman said, the university must "continue to refrain from recognition."

In his letter to Herzog announcing the end of the union recognition ban, Lilienthal said the exemption made in the case of Oak Ridge has proved satisfactory from a security standpoint. But he added:

"It may be that many new problems will arise at other commission installations where novel conditions and new unions may be involved."

The C.I.O. United Chemical Workers and several A.F.L. unions have been recognized at the Oak Ridge plants. All of them have complied with the non-Communist provision of the Taft-Hartley law.

World Bank Says Western Europe Must Cooperate

Washington, Sept. 29 (AP)—The World Bank said today western European nations must show more effort and teamwork if they are to support themselves by 1952—when Marshall Plan aid is due to end.

Although "noteworthy" progress has been made to date, "more must be accomplished than has yet been faced up to," the 47-nation bank reported to its governors at their third annual meeting.

For one thing, it said, removal of barriers to free trade among the western European countries is essential, yet it's a question whether that can be done "without some kind of European union."

For Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, member countries in the Russian sphere, aid programs outside the U. S. aid program—the bank had equally frank words.

No loans have been granted them because of "existing political difficulties and uncertainties which may have a direct effect on (their) economic and financial conditions."

But the bank said it "hopes that the existing uncertainties can be clarified to an extent which will enable it to render financial assistance in (their) development."

As did the world monetary fund, also having its annual meeting here, the bank said "political tensions and unrest" are threatening economic stability and hobbling world recovery.

It noted that some countries in the U. S.-financed European Recovery Program are devoting as much as 25 per cent of their entire national budgets to military outlays.

The bank's report was submitted by its president, John J. McCloy of the United States, who added a personal remark that he expects a pick-up in bank loans. He indicated the Latin American countries particularly are prospective borrowers.

The bank report said $325,000,000 has been loaned to five nations (France, Holland, Denmark, Luxembourg and Chile) and loans for "productive projects in more than 20 member countries" are being discussed "actively."

AWKWARDNESS

The owner of what she herself calls "a pair of restless hands" explains further: "At home I'm always busy with my hands—sewing, crocheting, writing letters and doing housework. But I am always ill at ease to know what to do with them in public or when I have company. (My hands are not beautiful.)"

Fold your hands together loosely—not tensely—on your lap and forget them. You should not knit or crochet when you have visitors, unless they are neighbors who run in to see you almost every day and probably would not mind. When you are out in public, you always can hold your pocketbook in your hands.

Girl Wants to Visit Recovering Patient

Dear Mrs. Post: I saved my vacation until now, hoping to visit my fiancé who is a convalescent patient in an Army hospital several hundred miles from here. I had planned to stay in a hotel about 20 miles from his hospital. (There is no nearer place.) Mother thinks I would look wrong for me to go alone as it is generally known here that he is up and around the hospital but not yet well enough to leave. What do you think?

Answer: If your engagement has been announced, can see nothing wrong in your going to see him. In fact, it would seem heartless of you not to go, if you can.

Car Etiquette

Dear Mrs. Post: This discussion has not been settled: "A" claims that good manners require a man to open the door for a woman whenever she enters or leaves his car. "B" says that he should open the door only if the occasion is formal or if she has an armful of packages. "C" also claims that, on informal occasions, it would make her look helpless if he made a ceremony out of helping her out of the car.

Answer: In a crowded street, she must open the door on her side. In the country or in an empty street, he should get out of his side, walk around the car and open her door.

Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," includes manners for a lady when walking along the street or riding in a bus, streetcar or automobile. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Toledo Dancer May Get Pardon on Pistol Slaying

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 29 (AP)—A new legal turn in the case of Patricia (Satira) Schmidt indicated today the Toledo, Ohio, dancer may receive a pardon.

She is serving a 15-year prison term for the pistol slaying of Jack Lester Mee, Chicago attorney and former naval officer, on board Mee's yacht here in April, 1947.

Patricia's lawyer, Carlos Meno, removed the last legal obstacle to a pardon yesterday when he withdrew his appeal to the Cuban Supreme Court against the sentence imposed by the Havana Criminal Court. She was convicted on a homicide charge.

A pardon could not be granted while the appeal was pending. Legal circles said Meno's action indicated he has received assurance the pardon will be granted.

'Nubbins' Is Growing
Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 29 (AP)—Tiny Forest "Nubbins" Hoffman, the early Christmas boy of 1944, is growing up. Four years ago, when Nubbins was three, his parents fixed an early Christmas tree for him figuring he'd never live until December 25. The word got around and people from all over the nation mailed him presents. Nubbins survived although physicians thought he would be bedridden for life. Now he has gained 20 pounds and about four inches in height in the past eight months. He weighs 40 pounds and is 43 inches tall. Nubbins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall H. Hoffman, credit their son's rapid growth to daily injections of two and a half milligrams of male hormones in oil. Physicians last February decided on the hormone treatments in an attempt to rebuild the child's kidney functions which had been damaged by a long illness brought about by a bladder obstruction.

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

The other day I was nostalgically around Allen Street when who should I run into but Sam Carmel who has been delivering mail on the East Side for the past 35 years.

After bringing me up to date on Mrs. Frettelbaum's niece who was carrying on with a tugboat captain, and the troubles of poor Tony Burelli whose hot chestnut stand was nudged by a Second Avenue bus, Sam fastened me with his one good eye and said, "Remember that column ya did a while back saying dorgs ain't so bright?"

"Am I going to have trouble with you, too?" I asked.

"Ya shouldn't write such pieces," said Sam. "Maybe dorgs ain't so bright, but I got a piano careful of letters saying the same thing," I admitted.

So big in the brain, but neither is plenty people."

"Ya gotta treat dorgs with respect," said Sam. "If ya run dorg stories, they oughta be nice stories. F'instance like the one Doc Beales told me the other day. Now, that's what I call a nice dorg story."

Well, it was a nice dorg story, but in deference to the linotypers who have to set this piece up, I'll translate Sam's clip-clop East Sides into my own brand of clip-clip English.

Chick and Nellie first saw the light of day through the windows of the same tenement house on Livingston Street. Before they even got their second teeth, their respective poppas passed on to the Happy Pineapple grounds, and since it was necessary for the mothers to work during the day, the two kids were thrown together a lot.

For the first 18 years of their lives, Chick and Nellie played patsy, pulled hair and stuck out their tongues at each other, and so it was only natural that in their 19th year they should fall in love. Chick carried his girl's picture through four campaigns in Europe, and as soon as he was discharged from the Army, they were married.

Because of the housing shortage, Nellie's old lady went upstairs to her sister, Chick's mother, and Chick moved in downstairs with Nellie. All that this involved was moving some clothes and changing the names on the doorbells.

For the first year, their marriage was one of the pleasantest idyls of Livingston Street, but one day Chick's boss fired him in favor of a kid who had spent the war wearing uniforms instead of wearing them. Chick was understandably bitter, but instead of getting another job, he took to lecturing in a local beer parlor on the injustices of capitalism.

Naturally, Nellie couldn't understand this preference for firewater to fireballs, and before long she and Chick were communicating not in words, but in grunts. Finally words led to sentences, sentences to a scene, and the scene to a separation.

It happened this way: On his waveling way home from the beer parlor one rainy night, Chick spied a puppy shivering on the sidewalk. He dropped the peach oil, named it Ruppert in honor of the brew he'd been drinking and carried it home. Well, that finished everything as far as Nellie was concerned. She accused him of caring more for a dog than for her, and finally opened the door and suggested he go back where he came from—upstairs.

Chick picked up the pup and went to his mother's flat, and 10 minutes later Nellie's old lady, bags and bundles, was downstairs with her daughter again. And when the mailman came around next morning, he couldn't help noticing that the names on the doorbells had been switched back to their original positions.

The separation might have been a short-time affair if Ruppert hadn't taken advantage of a dog nair and bounced out to investigate. As he ambled out on the sidewalk, he paused to wag "hello" to Nellie who was sitting on the steps knitting, and turning over in her mind the various tortures suitable for her backsliding spouse. When she saw the pup, she hastily abandoned the thumbscrew and Chinese water torture in favor of a more subtle scheme. "Nice Ruppert," she called. "Pretty Ruppert."

When Chick knocked at her door a few minutes later and demanded his dog, Nellie informed him that the bone-muncher was part of the apartment, and all the household effects were hers.

For a week Chick tried to dognap Ruppert, but Nellie guarded the pooch as if it were the Cullinan diamond. There was much shouting and door-pounding, and finally one of the neighbors suggested that the matter be settled in court.

The case came up before a Tammany judge who listened, scratched his head and tried to look like King Solomon. After much whereing, he said, "Tell ya what we do. Let defendant and plaintiff stand on each side of the room. Place the dog squarely in the middle. Bailiff, when I give the word, release the dog. Whoever he goes to is the winner."

Well, it was no contest. Ruppert cocked an inquisitive eye at Chick and then made straight for Nellie.

"I'll take this to the Supreme Court," yelled Chick. "She poisoned the dog's mind!"

"Decision is final," said His Honor, "and if ya make any more fuss, I'll have ya locked up for disturbing the peace."

After that, as the days grew warm, Nellie took to knitting on the front stoop while Ruppert frisked around and Chick watched helplessly from a distance. And then, as a last desperate measure, Chick opened a campaign to alienate the dog's affections. He stuffed his pockets with dog biscuits and slices of liverwurst and fed them to the pup whenever Nellie wasn't looking. But Nellie, aware of these underhand tactics, retaliated by feeding the kiyoodle a lot of dinkies on her own. Soon Ruppert no longer frisked; he began to waddle. And the inevitable, as it was bound to happen.

One night Nellie came running upstairs and banged on Chick's door. "Come quick," she said. "It's Ruppert—his nose is dry and he's making funny noises in his throat. I think he's going to die."

Chick raced downstairs, wrapped the rotund Ruppert in a blanket, and the couple carried him around the corner to the office of Doc Beales. The medico, who had heard about the cause celebre in court, looked grave.

"I think I can pull him through this time," he said. "A little physic and a strict diet should do the trick. But the real trouble is harder to cure. You see, he's almost out of his mind because he needs you both and can't decide which one to choose. Your dog is developing a split personality — what the medical profession calls schizophrenia."

Nellie contrite, eyed Chick softly. Chick, equally contrite, reached for her hand. Later that night, after they had tucked the corpulent canine in his basket, she poured her husband a glass of susaparilla and took out her knitting. For the first time, Harry noticed it. "You mean?" he stammered in the time-honored movie manner.

Nellie nodded shyly.

"Gee," whispered Harry reverently. "And all the time I thought it was a sweater for Ruppert."

That night Nellie's mother had to move upstairs again, and nobody got around to changing the names on the doorbells until the following morning.

Discuss Youth Delinquency

'Teen Agers Take Part in Forum at St. Mary's School

At a youth forum in St. Mary's parish hall, Monday, Judge John M. Cushman of county and children's court told those present that improper home conditions and neglect of religious duties are the chief causes for the problem with 'teen agers today.

The judge was chief speaker at the forum during which the presidents of three 'teen age societies of the parish expressed these sentiments:

James Smith, president, Junior Holy Name Society—Young people welcome religious influence in their social activities.

Miss Marilyn Mines, president, Children of Mary Sodality—Parents should show active interest in the activities of the youth societies.

John Glennon, president, Teen Age Social Club—Youth wants to run its own societies but needs guidance from the adult.

According to Judge Cushman, no youngster is born bad, but parental laxity and neglect cause failures in youth. He pointed out the need for cooperation and unity of principle between the home, the church and the school. Properly sponsored youth societies are important aids in coping with the problem, but adult support of the organizations is essential, the judge stressed.

President John Graney of the Senior Holy Name Society and Mrs. Christopher Tierney, president of the Rosary Society, asked all the adult members of St. Mary's parish to back the youth societies by showing a lively interest in their activities and providing the necessary leadership.

The Rt. Rev. Martin J. Drury urged the regular attendance by all at released time religious instructions and thanked the people for their display of interest and support by attendance at the meeting. The Rev. John A. Flaherty and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly are moderators of the youth societies of St. Mary's parish.

Newspaper Week Grows In Nine Years of Life

(P) Newsfeatures

New York—National Newspaper Week is being observed Oct. 1-8 for the ninth time. Its first year was 1940.

In 1939 the Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., held its annual meeting in Chicago and laid plans for the first program. It proved popular almost at once and a number of other organizations have cooperated in the years since then.

The original purpose of the plan was to "coordinate effort in answer to organized attacks and criticisms aimed at weakening the prestige and influence of newspapers." It has emphasized year after year the place of a free press in a free community.

Idea Enlarged

Meanwhile, sponsors find that it has spread in two directions. First newspapers use it to help the public understand them and their problems. Second, publishers and editors use the week to strengthen their knowledge of public attitudes.

The second objective is achieved through open houses and special contacts with schools, clubs and churches.

Each year the national organization chooses a slogan for the week. This year it is, "The right to know is the key to all your liberties." National figures and national programs are developed. But this year as in previous years the major activity for the week is centered in local programs. Each newspaper fits its activities into a continuing public relations plan.

Newsboys Honored

One of the important developments of the week has been National Newspaper Day. This year it is Oct. 2. On this day the place of the boys who sell and deliver the papers is stressed. On this day the newspaper world pauses to remember the newsboy. Here is how H. W. Stodghill, national chairman of this year's Newspaperboy Committee, outlines the objective:

"Maximum public recognition for those enterprising young men and tribute for their industry and application to business fundamentals—training and experience that will be invaluable to them in later life."

When the Newspaper Association Managers launched the first National Newspaper Week in 1940, they were guided by the success which state groups had made of their own programs. These state groups still have a vital part.

Thus, planning is carried on at three levels: local, state and national. Therefore, no overall statement about the week can picture its impact. Observance varies from state to state and from town to town.

4th Ward Takes Part in Canvass

Fourth Ward activity in the current chest X-ray drive sponsored by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association was planned at a meeting at the White Eagle Hall Monday night.

Record of progress in KINGSTON

How much has our community grown in the last two or three years? You could get a pretty accurate idea by comparing the number of pages in your telephone book then—and now. For the telephone is so vital a factor in modern business and social life that an increase in the number of homes and business is almost inevitably followed by an increase in phone listings.

In fact, without the quick, efficient, and economical communication the telephone provides, most communities would grow much more slowly, if at all. That's why you'll find the telephone men and women doing their level best to provide you with ever-better telephone service. They realize, with you, the importance of the telephone to the continued growth and prosperity of this community.

HERE IN KINGSTON we've added more than 3,800 telephones since V-J Day, making a total of 13,300 now served from this office. During that same period, the number of calls has increased from 48,000 to 65,000 a day. You'll be glad to know that recent additions to our switchboard have enabled us to provide telephone service for everyone on our waiting list—and that we're keeping a careful record of all applications for a better grade of service. These will be filled just as soon as sufficient additional equipment is available.

Serves Nine Years: Religious Conference Rights 'Violated' Scheduled Oct. 15th

Ronald J. Sadness, 36, of 457 West 57th street, New York, who was sentenced more than eight years ago to a term of from 10 to 20 years in prison, was brought back to this county yesterday for hearing on a writ to vacate the sentence on the theory that his constitutional rights were violated.

Sadness was sentenced following conviction on a charge of grand larceny first degree, and he now claims that he was not properly represented by counsel and was otherwise improperly sentenced. Judge Paul Fromer of Greene county, who was sitting as a substitute judge in Ulster County Court at the time, imposed the sentence.

Sadness was charged with the theft of an automobile from the Ellenville area and was brought back to the county from Florida. He has already served nearly nine years of his sentence.

Night Jailor Arthur Brown and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith brought Sadness from the Great Meadows Prison Tuesday. He is scheduled to appear before County Judge John M. Cashin.

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—A young man walked out of Raymond street jail in Brooklyn yesterday, freed by the judge who originally had sentenced him to death. He spent eight months in the death house at Sing Sing prison during two years' imprisonment.

Three Plead Innocent

Los Angeles, Sept. 29 (AP)—Handsomeness Robert Mitchell and two of his co-defendants pleaded innocent today to narcotics charges. Mitchell, 31, actress Lila Leeds, 20, dancer Vicki Evans, 25, and Robert J. King, 21, were charged with possessing a drug weed popularly known as marijuana. All four are at liberty on $10,000 bail each. They were arrested shortly after midnight last September 1, at a secluded cottage in Laurel Canyon, north of Hollywood. Mitchell, well-groomed and wearing a blue sports coat and grey slacks, spoke in a clear "not guilty" tone. King and Miss Leeds also pleaded innocent. Trial for the three was set for November 22. Miss Evans did not enter a plea, as her attorney asked for time to argue for dismissal on grounds that evidence against her is insufficient. This will be heard October 7.

Says Wires Tapped

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—An attorney said today that lawyers engaged in the practice of criminal law know their telephone wires are tapped continuously as they talk with their clients. The attorney, Henry A. Lowenberg, made his statement in testimony before a special committee of the New York County Criminal Courts Bar Association investigating wiretapping. "Lawyers in criminal practice know their own wires are tapped continuously, in their talks with clients, by the police and district attorneys," Lowenberg testified. He said "wire tapping is open to so many abuses the ordinary righteous citizen can't be protected."

'Ike' Says Fun Essential

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—College students should have fun, says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Columbia University president. He told more than 1,200 students at an assembly yesterday: "The day that goes by that you don't have some fun is not only unnecessary, but in fact, if you don't have it, you are not being true to yourselves." The students cheered when Eisenhower told them he considers expansion of recreational facilities to be one of his first duties.

Silent on Red Stand, Educator Would Retire

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—Alexander Koral, who faced dismissal from his Board of Education job because he refused to answer questions of the House Un-American Activities Committee, has applied for disability retirement. A medical examination of Koral yesterday revealed evidence of a heart ailment, Dr. William Janssen, superintendent of schools said.

On Sept. 16 Janssen announced that Koral's refusal to answer the House committee's questions constituted a violation of the city charter and subjected him to dismissal without a trial.

Yesterday Janssen said Koral would be retired automatically if the medical board certifies a disability. Koral has served on the board for 26 years. He is an assistant mechanical engineer and is assistant chief of the sanitary division of the Bureau of Construction.

The House committee questioned Koral on charges that he had acted as a paid courier for a war-time Russian spy ring. He also was asked whether he was a Communist or ever had been one.

He refused to answer on the ground that his answers might incriminate him.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—Continuing its second day of recovery, the stock market today was slightly higher in the midst of quiet trading.

Except in a few special cases, most of the market joined in the advance of fractions to around a point.

Oils, rails, steels and motors were higher, but utilities and airlines were narrowly mixed.

The opening was steady and the volume of trading was moderate until the rise started. Then the pace of business quickened in later dealings.

Santa Fe was off more than a point after directors declared a $2 extra dividend but took no action on a much discussed stock split rumor. Other rails like Central of Jersey, Great Northern Preferred, Nickel Plate and Seaboard Airline had the best gains.

Oils were led up by Standard Oil (N.J.), Richfield and Gulf Oil. They still appeared under the influence of yesterday's price increase for crude announced by Phillips Petroleum although a number of major producers and refiners said they didn't intend at this time to follow along.

National Airlines and American Airlines touched a new low for the year. National faces an inquiry by the Civil Aeronautics Board to determine whether its scheduled routes should be transferred to other companies.

Stocks in the curb market were higher with oils showing the greatest activity at better prices including Cities Service, Dreyfus, Pancontinental Oil and Enterprise Oil. Also higher were Electric Bond and Share, Kaiser-Frazer, New York Zinc, and Salt Dome Oil.

Plane Is Burned

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—A flash fire wrecked a transatlantic plane yesterday as a service crew readied it for flight at LaGuardia Field. The fire broke out suddenly as servicemen filled the oxygen tank inside the DC-4. Flames shot through the interior of the ship and huge clouds of smoke rolled over the plane. No passengers were aboard and no one was injured. The plane, belonging to Trans World Airlines, was scheduled for a flight to Egypt. A T.W.A. spokesman said the craft was valued at about $400,000 and that it was three-quarters destroyed. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Hay Fever Haven Planned

Spring Valley, N. Y., Sept. 29 (AP)—Bergen and Passaic counties in New Jersey and Rockland and Orange counties in New York may become a haven for metropolitan hay fever sufferers. Mayors and health officials met here yesterday to discuss the proposed four-county haven. Jacob Pesner, Spring Valley attorney who heads a committee sponsoring the movement, told the group that many living in the metropolitan area now are forced to go to the Adirondacks and other sections at great expense to escape the ragweed during August.

To Equal Record

New Haven, Sept. 29 (AP)—It appeared today that Connecticut would equal a 34-year record of 47 consecutive rainless days. Light rain which had been forecast failed to develop, nor, according to the Weather Bureau, did there appear much chance that they would. There were sunny skies over Connecticut, with increasing cloudiness listed for tonight, and cloudy and "some rain tomorrow."

lines running between Yonkers and Bronxville, Bronxville and New Rochelle, Netherland and Interlaken Gardens and Disbrow Circle and Glen Island.

The new rates will become effective on one-day notices after the company files the approved fare schedule with the P.S.C. They will remain in effect until March 31, 1949.

In granting the increase, the P.S.C. said other zone fares and the present children's fare of five cents must remain unchanged.

Last March, the company was authorized to double certain five-cent fares. A token and ticket rate of two fares for 15 cents was set up at the same time for the old five-cent routes.

At P.S.C. hearings, the company contended that it had lost more than $15,000 during April, May and June, despite the March boost.

Board of Education Cites Teacher Publications

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—A member of the city Board of Education told congressional probers yesterday that publications of a teachers union local have shown "a persistent espousal of Communist causes."

The publications of Local 555 of the C.I.O. United Public Workers "never express disagreement with any Soviet policy," said the witness, George A. Timone.

Timone was one of a number of education officials who testified during the second day of hearings by a House education and labor subcommittee on alleged Communist infiltration into schools, labor unions and Veterans Administration branches.

Dr. Abraham Lefkowitz, a high school principal, told the probers: "The officers of the teachers' union deny Communist membership, but the record gives them the lie. They have attacked policy after policy of our country, but they never attack the Soviet Union or the Communist party."

Ulster County Department Of Health Makes Its Report

During the month of August there were two outbreaks of disease investigated by the Ulster County Health Department with one of them being a rather unusual food poisoning outbreak resulting from contamination of meat with streptococcus viridans during the five hour interval when the meat, after being cooked, was allowed to stand around until reheated.

Investigation of the meal on August 31 indicated a meat stew might be the source of trouble. The following day 75 of the 140 people present became ill with cramps and diarrhea. Forty-one of 42 persons sick ate the meat stew while only eight of 20 persons not sick ate meat stew. Examination showed streptococcus viridans. Throat cultures of the three kitchen help involved showed streptococcus viridans present.

In the monthly report of the Board of Health for August a summary of the rabies control program shows there were 69 evening clinics held in 31 central areas of the county for vaccination of dogs. In all, of the 11,700 dogs in the county, 8,765 were inoculated against rabies, or about 75 per cent. A request was made on August 28 that the New York State Commissioner of Health designate Ulster county as an area in which vaccinated dogs might run at large during the period of rabies quarantine, 30 days after 70 per cent of the dogs were vaccinated. Dogs even if vaccinated may not run at large until the designation is received from the State Health Department.

During August there were eight additional police cases reported to the Board, making nine cases in all this year. The cases were widely scattered. Four of the cases were New York residents and four were from the county. The cases were in Olive, Lloyd, New Paltz and Ellenville.

573 Are Examined

At "out-patient" clinics in August 573 patients were examined in the tuberculosis program. Dr. George W. Weber, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital reports. The average daily census at the hospital for August was 54 patients. There were six new admissions and six discharges.

Miss Adele Didricksen, director of Public Health Nursing, reported the resignation of Mrs. Elsie Wilson as dental hygienist and a new dental hygienist will be secured. The monthly report states that Miriam Maroon, R.N., returned from a six weeks' course in tuberculosis at the Mt. Morris Hospital and is working in the Wawarsing area, replacing Harriet Breslow, R.N., who is on a four months leave of absence for further education at Columbia University.

Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, devotes a large portion of his monthly report to the water supply in the county. He reports the systems affected by the lack of rainfall with Marlborough supply low but development of a new well to augment the supply. Port Ewen experienced a new low in August and consideration is being given the development of an additional supply. Highland has been supplied largely from Black Creek. Kerhonkson was reported to have an adequate supply for some time and Ellenville, Wallkill and Saugerties were reported to have a good supply, although at Wall-kill a short period of pumping from the auxiliary well was necessary. New Paltz maintained a fire supply in its upland reservoir and was securing its domestic supply from New York City's Ashokan aqueduct.

Sewage disposal was inspected during the month and operations were "normal."

Emphasis on Polio

Due to the polio cases camp inspections were intensified, Mr. Edinger reports. However he reports no polio cases occurred in any of the children's camps and "in fact the several thousand children in Ulster county camps seemed to have enjoyed an exceptionally healthy summer season" he concludes. One children's camp in Saugerties was discovered operating without a permit and under conditions which were not considered good. The camp was closed the day of discovery and the children removed the next day.

Approximately 400 hotels and boarding houses were inspected, giving a total number of known resorts of this type of 1,085 in the county. There were 547 other inspections of resort water supplies and 43 resort sewage systems. An order issued after a commissioner's hearing in July against a property in the town of Rochester resulted in the closing of the property by August 8. Notice was posted in the buildings of the order and the occupants left of their own volition. There was one complaint of a nuisance in the town of Rochester where sewage disposal from approximately 300 people from a bungalow colony was investigated and a hearing held. An order was issued against the property under the Health Law closing the property for the 1949 season unless a complete sewage disposal system is provided.

Milk supplies in August were reported good. The statistical portion of the August report shows 9 cases of chicken pox; 20 measles; 2 infectious hepatitis; 1 pertussis; 3 pneumonia.

There were 147 live births and 2 stillbirths. Deaths from 0 to 1 month numbered 4 and from 1 to 11 months 1.

Causes of death were: Heart disease 35; cancer 20; cerebral hemorrhage 8; accidents 6; diseases of arteries 8; nephritis 2; diabetes 1; pneumonia 2; tuberculosis 1; suicide 1 and all other causes 18. Total 98.

The Kingston meat inspector reported 382 cows examined and 3 calves. Condemned: 21 lungs, 27 livers, 3 hearts and 1 kidney.

Kingston City plumbing inspector reports 10 applications for new buildings; 17 for installations at existing buildings; 30 preliminary inspections; 18 final inspections; 28 other inspections and 6 complaints investigated.

Eleanor the Great or anyone else.

Our present laws aren't "adequate" because they do not deal with treason in a "cold" war. President Truman himself recognized the Russian campaign against our country as a "cold war" about a year ago and it has steadily grown worse. Meanwhile, thousands of traitors are protected only because our laws were written long before cold war had been invented. The new law would just modernize our legal defense. That should be simple, but simple or not, it has got to be done. If the constitution is so brittle that we can't bend it to our vital necessity here, we won't be able to defend it. It will protect our enemies and frustrate us.

Then Mr. Dewey said, "If they (Communists) engage in sabotage or break any other law we'll jail them."

It was here that he said he would get adequate laws, but I moved that phrase up against the treason proposition to emphasize his intent that we put Communists to the firing squad.

Of course, they have been committing sabotage, vandalism, sedition and insurrection for years. We hardly know what our laws can do to them with juries properly aware of their duties and powers and of the meaning of these crimes, because Roosevelt protected Communists in all such dirty works. The long Alvin Karpis strike, which undoubtedly cost many lives in the war, was Communist sabotage and Roosevelt himself said that the Ingleside aviation strike of 1941 was a "violent insurrection" in favor of a foreign power, to wit, Russia. But he did nothing about it after he used a regular infantry outfit to break the picket lines. The same traitors were involved in both of these treasons. Then he left Earl Browder and some others out of jail and fixed it up for Browder's wife to enter our country as an immigrant in innocent of political activity when he knew she was a Red as Harry S. Truman's herring.

Under President Dewey, the people would have a fresh and honestly patriotic view of Communist treachery. Our existing laws might be sufficient if we gave them an honest chance, with the proper attorney general.

The important thing is a disposition to keep Communists out of the government and the unions. That disposition never existed under Roosevelt.

I always did think well of my plan. Now that the next president has adopted it I bespeak a fair trial.

Resolution Is Adopted

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Three thousand dress shop union chairmen adopted a resolution last night condemning recent "atrocious attacks upon our officers and pickets." David Dubinsky, president of the A.F.L. International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, told the meeting that "the racketeers must be driven out by us." His audience comprised members of the union's campaign against disorders which it says indicate a reappearance of racketeering and gangsterism in the city's giant garment manufacturing industry.

Ferguson Charges Political Attack Filled With Lies

Washington, Sept. 29 (U.P.)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) says a "warmed over political attack" is being waged against him on the basis of a letter from Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) which he got last February and "tossed into the wastebasket."

The Michigan lawmaker yesterday described as "a bunch of damned lies" any insinuations that members of his family received gifts from Detroit business firms, or that he threw champagne parties paid for by the companies.

Thomas wrote two letters to Ferguson last winter, after Ferguson's Senate subcommittee had inquired into the Oklahoma's speculation in commodities.

In one letter, made public at the time, Thomas said that if his business dealings were investigated the "private affairs and financial transactions" of other senators should be scrutinized as well.

The other letter was never formally released, but published accounts said that in it Thomas referred to relations he claimed Ferguson and his family had with certain business concerns.

Ferguson said he had received such a letter, but threw it away.

Thomas, in Tulsa, said he wrote it but had nothing to do with its publication.

Ferguson said the letter had nothing to do with the fact that no open hearings have been held on Thomas' market dealings. "The subcommittee knows that I have favored open hearings on the matter, but the subcommittee did not agree," he said.

Health for All

ASTHMA

Attacks of asthma, a disease affecting the bronchial tubes of the lungs, are usually frightening experiences.

During attacks, the asthma victim has great difficulty in breathing and seems to be suffocating as he summons all his strength to force his breath in and out.

Most cases of asthma bring extreme discomfort, rather than immediate danger, to the sufferers. At the same time, repeated and severe attacks can stretch the lung tissue and even damage it permanently and place an extra burden on the heart which has to work more vigorously to force blood through the injured lungs.

So it is wrong to assume that all cases of asthma are harmless. The asthma sufferer who allows his illness to go untreated and fails to seek good medical advice is taking an unnecessary risk.

There are different causes of bronchial asthma but most cases are caused by an allergy on the part of the victim. The person may be allergic to any number of substances, including certain foods, animal hairs, fur, feathers, cosmetics, dust and pollens. Frequently, asthma and hay fever come together, especially if the victim is allergic to ragweed pollen.

The person who suspects or knows he has asthma should consult his doctor for many reasons. First of all there are several illnesses with symptoms resembling those associated with asthma, among them heart disease and other diseases of the bronchial tubes. Only a good doctor can make an accurate diagnosis of what the illness is.

Second, a person with asthma should receive certain tests to find out what is causing the illness and the attacks that it brings. In addition to these tests, the sufferer must aid the doctor in "detective" work by furnishing his doctor with information on the history of allergy in his family, his occupation, where he lives and the time, place and length of his asthma attacks. A study of these facts, plus any laboratory tests he might think necessary, often help the doctor find the underlying cause of the patient's asthma and so prescribe the correct treatment for it.

There is no need these days for a victim of asthma to go on suffering in resignation, because modern medical treatment by a good doctor will relieve the suffering and frequently cure the illness.

Asthma may occur at any age, but it most generally starts during childhood or early maturity. It is estimated that about one-third of all cases of asthma begin in children under ten years of age. A child who "whoops" or frequently seems to have difficulty in breathing, should be taken to the doctor at once. If the doctor finds that the child has asthma, he can relieve his discomfort immediately and prescribe the proper treatment before it causes greater suffering or results in more serious illness.

Keating with Troopers N. G. Locakes and J. S. McCartney of the Highland bureau went to the house first and then joined later by John Metzger of the State Police B.C.L. and Trooper R. Novas, of the Lake Katrine substation.

Grabbed Outside House

Sgt. Keating said today that Eckert was grabbed by himself, Novas and Metzger as he came out of the door and attempted to run back inside, apparently for the gun. He was brought before Peace Justice Albert Lester of Highland on a first degree assault charge, waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

The trouble started, police said, when Eckert refused to remove screens from the house, which is on Dock Road near the Marlborough railroad station. The house was being painted, the report said, and when Eckert first refused to remove the screens for a painter and the latter went to complain to Johnson.

The house is on the property of the Marlborough Manufacturing & Supply Co., of which Johnson's father is manager.

Johnson arrived at the house at about 11 a. m., and after an argument with Eckert in the vicinity of the back door, Eckert went for the gun. Johnson started running when he heard Eckert cock the gun, the police said, and Eckert shot at Johnson when he was only about 30 feet away.

Taken to Doctor

The charge which struck Johnson, the report said, was one of No. 6 shot. He was taken to a doctor by another employee of the company and later to the Newburgh hospital.

During the police effort to rout Eckert from the place, Trooper Metzger talked with him, the report said, and the trooper was told that Eckert would not come out unless his wife, Evelyn, was brought to the house.

Mrs. Eckert was employed on a farm about a half mile from the house picking grapes. She was sent for, and when she arrived her husband apparently allowed her to enter the one door, and then he attempted to leave by the other.

The troopers said that Eckert struggled with them considerably before they got him in the police car and drove away.

After it appeared that Eckert would hold out indefinitely in the barricaded house, police sent in a request to State for the state police emergency truck. It left Sidney at about 1 p. m., and arrived in Highland shortly after 3 p. m., but by that time Eckert was in custody.

Eckert told reporters that as he came out of the door with the gun to warn Johnson to leave the screens alone, the sleeve of his shirt caught on the door handle and the gun discharged accidentally.

U.N. Split . . .

Since the organization has been split wide open since the start, with the Communists using it for purposes of obstruction and as a grand soundingboard for Red propaganda. Thus actually the U.N. has been used by the Bolsheviks as a weapon of aggression against the democracies.

So if the Muscovites want to desert the U.N. there need be no tears shed, although there will be regrets that there couldn't be collaboration. It will be rather reminiscent of Japan's action in 1932 when she walked out of the League of Nations in charge over the Lytton report charging her with aggression against Manchuria. Also, in passing, one might note that Russia was expelled from the league in 1939 for aggression against Finland.

But, says somebody, a split in the U.N. gets us further away from the ideal of "one world." I'm not so sure about that. We certainly are kidding ourselves if we think we are going to get one world through trying to make democracy and Communism mix.

They can't be made to mix under any circumstances. The Reds keep on telling us that our economy and form of government must be destroyed. Do they have to knock us down and drag us out before we recognize the situation?

Would-be mixers of oil and water might consider a statement by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address at the Sorbonne in Paris last night. She charged Russia with ruthless suppression of human rights at home and with interference in other countries' affairs. She urged the U.N. not to compromise with the Soviet bloc on the issue of human freedom, which she termed the "basic problem confronting the world today."

The oil and water mixers also might lend an ear to Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak, former president of the U.N. Assembly, who told the Russians in a speech before that body:

"By your conduct you have prevented this organization from working. We fear you because in every country represented here you maintain a fifth column, the like of which even Hitler did not know."

A few hours earlier William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a broadcast (Mutual): "There is no longer any doubt that a powerful Communist fifth column is operating in this country today."

Of course there are fifth columns everywhere—part and parcel of the world revolution for the spread of Communism. It's a fight to a finish between Bolshevism and democracy. So, as Edwin says, if we can't work on a world basis we must proceed on a regional basis.

A United Nations comprising the democracies alone would serve a very useful purpose. Half a loaf, et cetera.

Ferguson Charges Political Attack Filled With Lies

Washington, Sept. 29 (AP)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) says a "warmed over political attack" is being waged against him on the basis of a letter from Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) which he got last February and "tossed into the wastebasket."

"The Michigan lawmaker yesterday described as 'a bunch of damned lies' any insinuations that members of his family received gifts from Detroit business firms, or that he threw champagne parties paid for by the companies."

Thomas wrote two letters to Ferguson last winter, after Ferguson's Senate subcommittee had inquired into the Oklahoma's speculation in commodities. In one letter, made public at the time, Thomas said that if his business dealings were investigated the "private affairs and financial transactions" of other senators should be scrutinized as well.

The other letter was never formally released, but published accounts said that in it Thomas referred to relations he claimed Ferguson and his family had with certain business concerns.

Ferguson said he had received such a letter, but threw it away. Thomas, in Tulsa, said he wrote it but had nothing to do with its publication.

Ferguson said the letter had nothing to do with the fact that no open hearings have been held on Thomas' market dealings. "The subcommittee knows that I have favored open hearings on the matter, but the subcommittee did not agree," he said.

Health for All

ASTHMA

Attacks of asthma, a disease affecting the bronchial tubes of the lungs, are usually frightening experiences.

During attacks, the asthma victim has great difficulty in breathing and seems to be suffocating as he summons all his strength to force his breath in and out.

Most cases of asthma bring extreme discomfort, rather than immediate danger, to the sufferers. At the same time, repeated and severe attacks can stretch the lung tissue and even damage it permanently and place an extra burden on the heart which has to work more vigorously to force blood through the injured lungs.

So it is wrong to assume that all cases of asthma are harmless. The asthma sufferer who allows his illness to go untreated and fails to seek good medical advice is taking an unnecessary risk.

There are different causes of bronchial asthma but most cases are caused by an allergy on the part of the victim. The person may be allergic to any number of substances, including certain foods, animal hairs, fur, feathers, cosmetics, dust and pollens. Frequently, asthma and hay fever come together, especially if the victim is allergic to ragweed pollen.

The person who suspects or knows he has asthma should consult his doctor for many reasons. First of all there are several illnesses with symptoms resembling those associated with asthma, among them heart disease and other diseases of the bronchial tubes. Only a good doctor can make an accurate diagnosis of what the illness is.

Second, a person with asthma should receive certain tests to find out what is causing the illness and the attacks that it brings.

In addition to these tests, the sufferer must aid the doctor in "detective" work by furnishing his doctor with information on the history of allergy in his family, his occupation, where he lives and the time, place and length of his asthma attacks. A study of these facts, plus any laboratory tests he might think necessary, often help the doctor find the underlying cause of the patient's asthma and so prescribe the correct treatment for it.

There is no need these days for a victim of asthma to go on suffering in resignation, because modern medical treatment by a good doctor will relieve the suffering and frequently cure the illness.

Asthma may occur at any age, but it most generally starts during childhood or early maturity. It is estimated that about one-third of all cases of asthma begin in children under ten years of age. A child who "wheezes" or frequently seems to have difficulty in breathing, should be taken to the doctor at once. If the doctor finds that the child has asthma, he can relieve his discomfort immediately and prescribe the proper treatment before it causes greater suffering or results in more serious illness.

Charlie Bock's .447 Average Wins 1948 City League Crown

Six Batters Are Over .400; Maines Wins Several Titles

Lashing out 17 hits in 38 trips, Charlie Bock, veteran Jones Dairy infielder, captured the 1948 City Baseball League individual batting championship with a hefty .447 figure according to official figures released today by Secretary Paul Freer.

Although Bock tossed out a teammate, Tommy Maines, by five percentage points, the big centerfielder wrapped up virtually all of the batting titles. Maines led in runs-batted-in with 25, in hits with 19, and nine doubles.

Six players batted .400 or better. Besides Bock and Maines, Charlie Lay, Boulevard Golf veteran, hit .419, Bill Tierney had .410 and Mike Hennes and Bill Glaser clicked for a flat .400 each.

Other Leaders

Ralph Tiano of Frank's Sport Shop retained his home run crown with two, both hit in the same game. Link Crosby of Chez Emile led in triples with nine, while Bill Tierney of Morgan's had most stolen bases. George Brinkman of Morgan's scored 21 runs to lead that department.

Although complete pitching records have not yet been released by Secretary Freer, it is known that the late Andy Radtke piled up the most strikeouts, 11, while Bill Windburn's 7-2 for Jones Dairy was the best pitching percentage.

Major League Roundup

By The Associated Press

The Indians may be a vanishing race but you couldn't tell it to the baseball world today.

Led by Manager Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland war party appears a leadpipe cinch to clash with another species, the Boston Braves, for the 1948 World Series wumpum.

Boudreau's Tribe enjoys a commanding two-game lead over the runner-up Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees in the American League pennant fight with all of the contenders having only four games left to play.

The Indians gained this almost insurmountable lead last night by massacring the Chicago White Sox, 11-0, after the Red Sox and Yankees were ambushed in the afternoon, 4-2, and 5-2, respectively, by the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics.

First Since 1920

The Indians can nail down their first flag since 1920 by winning three out of their remaining four games. Should they divide the four games the Red Sox or Yankees by winning all of their four could only tie the Indians for the pennant. The fact that two of the runnersup's remaining games are against each other lessens the possibility of one of them sweeping for games.

Lefty Gene Bearden turned in one of the best performances of his career in blanking the White Sox. The rookie held the Chicagoans to four scattered singles, fanned five and walked two in hanging up his 18th victory against seven defeats.

The Indians supported Bearden's classy job with a 13-hit attack that included homers by Dale Mitchell and Allie Clark. Mitchell opened the game with a homer off southpaw Bill Wight and the Indians were never headed.

Cleveland tallied three times in the first, added another run in the second, one in the fourth and completed its scoring with a six run outburst in the fifth.

A crowd of 60,405 fans turned out for the game and "Joe Earley Night" in honor of the war veteran, selected as the typical Cleveland baseball fan. Before the game, Earley received a new car and a truckload of household appliances, animals, clothes, luggage and books.

Rae Scarborough and Carl Scheib were the boys who put a crimp into the flag hopes of the Red Sox and Yankees.

Scarborough chilled the Sox on six hits in picking up his 14th victory for the seventh place Senators. The Senators hammered starter and loser Joe Dolson for four runs in the second inning and Scarborough coasted the rest of the way.

Dolson Kayoed

Mickey Vernon doubled to start the rally. A walk and single by Mark Christman loaded the bases. Jake Early grounded to Bill Goodman but the first sackler's throw home was wild and Vernon scored.

Followed by a two-run single and after Gil Coon flied out, Al Kozak singled in Washington's final run. Kozak's hit knocked out Dolson. Mickey Harris came on and blanked the Nats the rest of the way but Boston couldn't catch up.

Scheib had a more difficult time stopping the Yanks. He allowed 11 hits but three doubleplays got him out of holes. Scheib shut out the Yanks until the ninth when a single, walk and pinchhitter Joe Collins' two-run double had him on the ropes. Tommy Henrich then poked a terrific liner to right field but Elmer Valo made a spectacular backhand catch to end the game.

A's Rout Raschi

The A's scored a run in the first inning and routed starter Vic Raschi with three more in the third on two singles, a double and triple. Raschi, seeking his 20th victory, previously had beaten the A's eight times without suffering a loss in his career.

In the only other American League game the St. Louis Browns clipped the Detroit Tigers, 5-3, on rookie Hank Art's two-run eighth inning homer.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, engaged in a three-way battle for second place with the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, downed the pennant winning Braves, 9-8, in 13 innings on a home run by Jackie Robinson. Pee Wee Reese and Ed Miksis also homered for Brooklyn while Jeff Henth and Frank McCormick homered for Boston. The win pushed the Dodgers a game ahead of the Cards. The Cards, in front of Pittsburgh by a half game, had their scheduled night game with the Pirates rained out.

New York and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Giants won the opener, 6-5, and the Phils the nightcap, 6-3, in a game that was called because of darkness at the end of six innings.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Cincinnati Reds 6-2 to tie the Reds for seventh place in the other National League game.

Still Have Hopes For Sox-McCarthy

Boston, Sept. 29 (AP)—Joe McCarthy still has hope for his fading Boston Red Sox in their day-to-day struggle to remain in the American League race.

"You never can tell about baseball," he said last night in the standard quote reserved for all managers in a similar situation. On the surface, at least, he didn't look like a man who was deeply disturbed.

"You go along from day to day doing your best," he said. "Ellis Kinder is my next pitcher. After that we'll see, maybe Jack Kramer, maybe somebody else. When we're two games behind with only one to play, then we'll concede, not until then."

Williamson's Predictions

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON (Williamson Rating System)

Last week's football games were the first big start of the 1948 season and they produced some of the biggest upsets in the 17-year-old history of the Williamson football ratings.

Indiana's 35-7 upset of Wisconsin was one of the biggest in the history of football. Nearly everybody including Indiana's own alumni, figured the score would be the other way, and as large.

The Notre Dame-Purdue game was the kind that the subway alumni dream about. The Williamson System, which doesn't give points, figured unofficially that it would run about one point the other way.

In the middle brackets, Tufts, supposed to have its best team in years took a 7-28 beating from Bowdoin.

Among the exceptional picks by the Williamson System last week were: Iowa 14, Marquette 0; Rollins 7, Erskine 0; Miss. State 21, Tennessee 6 (practically alone here).

North Carolina by virtue of its smashing 35-6 victory over Texas Longhorns leads the national parade with a rating of 99.7, followed by Georgia Tech, Army and Northwestern.

Van Gonsic and Smith Twaalfskill Finalists

Victorious in thrilling 19-hole semi-final matches, John Van Gonsic and Lou Smith are finalists in the 1948 Twaalfskill Golf Club championships.

Van Gonsic defeated the Rev. Father Henry Herdegen 1-up yesterday while Smith dethroned the defending club champion, Ed Remmert, by the same margin.

The Twaalfskill finals will be delayed for several days while Van Gonsic is on vacation. The winner of the Van Gonsic-Smith match faces Maurice Davenport of Wilkes in the 36-hole club play-off for the title now held by Billy Van Aken of Wilkes.

Herdegen Is Hero
While the sterling play of Van Gonsic and Smith prompted no lifting of the eyebrows, Father Herdegen's great golf was by far the outstanding single feature of the Twaalfskill competition. He spotted Van Gonsic physical and stroke superiority yet carried him to the 19th hole.

Four holes on the No. 2 and No. 8 holes, Father Herdegen was 2-up at the end of nine. Van Gonsic quickly squared the match on the 10th and 11th, getting down in par figures while the Golfing Parle was one over. They halved the 12th and Van Gonsic moved in front with a birdie on the 13th. Both negotiated the long 14th in par.

Father Herdegen rallied with a par on the 15th to square the match and both were down in 5 on the 16th.

Van Gonsic's drive off the 17th was a terrific blast that rolled over the scorched terrain almost to the bunker. Father Herdegen was down in the middle, but short. Van Gonsic's approach was short, landing on the trap side edge of the green, while the padre hooked to the left. Van Gonsic chipped up and dropped his putt for a 4, while Father Herdegen missed a six-footer by inches to put Van Gonsic 1-up and one to go.

Two Bad Breaks
Breaks figured in the next two holes but the second one was in Van Gonsic's favor and he emerged the winner.

Van Gonsic hooked his tee shot on the 18th hole off to the left in the deep rough, while the padre split the fairway as usual. Van Gonsic found his ball almost buried in the mud in what was the only wet spot on the course. Since there was no casual water, however, he was forced to play out and needed two strokes to get back on the fairway. His fourth shot was wide of the green and Father Herdegen moved in to take the hole with a bogie-5.

In the sudden death extra hole, Van Gonsic unleashed a booming drive that rolled to within 15 yards of the green, while Father Herdegen's shot crumpled off a tree and landed on top of the hill.

Van Gonsic Moves In
The padre's second shot resulted in a tough roll that carried the ball across the green on to the far side of a small ditch on the upper side of the green. His chip shot was too strong and rolled several feet beyond the cup. He made a gallant effort to hole out in 4 but missed by inches. Van Gonsic played it safely on his third shot and left a six-incher for the par and the match.

The Remmert-Smith match was another bitter struggle with Remmert 1-up after losing the first two holes on the first nine. Smith took a one-hole lead on the 16th, they squared the 17th and both ran into trouble on the 18th. Remmert won it with a five, while Smith double-bogied.

As in the Herdegen-Van Gonsic match, Smith won the 19th hole and the match with a par-4 on the 19th, while Remmert had a bogie-5.

The Cards:
PAR OUT ... 433 433 544-35
Herdegen out 525 484 534-37
Van Gonsic ... 434 373 745-40
PAR IN ... 433 433 544-35
Herdegen in 544 453 555-40
Van Gonsic ... 434 351 546-38
Herdegen 77, Van Gonsic 78.

Youngest Canadian Olympian

Joey Sandulo, Canadian amateur flyweight boxing champion, was the youngest member of the 1948 Canadian Olympic squad at the tender age of 17 and with only a year of boxing experience behind him.

Brilliant boxing card on Thursday, October 7 at the municipal auditorium.

It was only a little over a year ago that wee Joey Sandulo first put on boxing gloves. His first bout saw him emerge happily astonished at being named Ottawa city champion in the flyweight division. He celebrated his 17th birthday in May and two months later found himself walking goggle-eyed around England attired in a trim Canadian Olympic team uniform.

Sandulo will share billing with Ronnie LaCelle and other Canadian stars on the October 7 card.

Conklin Outclasses Field In Final Rhinebeck Races

Clint Conklin of Danbury, Conn., picked the final night of midweek racing at Rhinebeck Speedway to show up and that was just what he did as he swept four events from a field of some of the best midweek drivers in the country.

An almost record crowd was in attendance for the season's finale and it was evident that after Conklin had won the second qualifying heat, the Danbury ace was going to be plenty tough for the rest of the evening.

A summary of Conklin's efforts for the evening read like this: Second qualifying heat: Started in fourth position and won going away; second semi-final: started in second place, won going away; first main event for Fords only, started in pole position and won going away; second feature event, again pole position by virtue of turning in the fastest time in the semi-final, won going away by the time of 6:13.44.

"This was the story and for the rest of the top drivers, it was 'get in the money' for the entire evening."

Farmers Warned Of Rabid Animals; Ulster Affected

Albany, Sept. 29 — The State Health Department today warned farmers and all others who handle farm animals to use particular caution with any who show signs of abnormal behavior; they may have rabies.

Dr. Alexander Zeissig, veterinary consultant for the department, pointed out that, based on past experiences, the heaviest cattle losses from rabies will occur during the coming fall months. Cases of the disease in farm animals are currently being reported from at least fourteen counties upstate, including Broome, Chemung, Chenango, Delaware, Herkimer, Madison, Otsego, Schoharie, Schuyler, Seneca, Steuben, Sullivan, Tompkins and Ulster.

Most of the current cases are in dairy cattle, with smaller numbers among sheep, horses and swine, also reported. Usually, the losses in any one herd are small, in most cases involving only one animal or two. Dr. Zeissig explained that rabies or hydrophobia, affects the brain and causes the animal to behave in a peculiar fashion. The peculiarities of behavior are extremely varied, making it difficult to be sure whether one is dealing with hydrophobia or some other ailment.

Frequently an animal which is actually suffering from rabies acts as though it had indigestion because of its failure to eat. Because this mistake is commonly made in connection with cattle the farmer who has stock on pasture should be highly suspicious of rabies, if any of his herd shows signs of indigestion. It is extremely unlikely that a cow which consumes grass as the bulk of her diet would suffer from indigestion since this is her natural food. Indigestion occurs most frequently during the months when the cattle are stabled and are eating dry forage.

With the advent of the fall season, cattle may have an opportunity to eat apples or potatoes. Rabies sometimes so affects a cow that she appears to be choked. The farmer may suspect one of these to be the blame. In such a case he should call a qualified veterinarian to assist him in determining the real cause of the trouble. He should never attempt to open the cow's mouth for the purpose of administering medicine or inducing her to swallow. Injuries to the hands from the animal's teeth might occur in the course of the operation and wounds from this source are invariably contaminated with the cow's saliva which is apt to contain rabies virus.

Smiley Will Direct Woodlot Owners

Daniel Smiley, Jr., of Lake Mohonk was appointed chairman of the Committee of Farm Woodland Owners at an organization meeting held in Poughkeepsie, September 25. Other members appointed on this committee are as follows: F. Langdon Davis of Cold Springs, Putnam county; Edward L. Raymond, Rhinebeck, Dutchess county; R. W. Hart, Arden, Orange county; and Frank P. Griswold, Roscoe, Sullivan county. William H. Palmer, agricultural agent, Ulster county, was appointed temporary secretary.

Twenty-one woodland owners, county agents and district foresters attended the meeting and discussed the merits of organizing a Forestry Products Marketing Association. The committee headed by Dan Smiley, Lake Mohonk, was authorized to meet as an organizing committee to draw up outlines of a marketing organization with the constitution and by-laws to be presented to woodland owners of Ulster, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Sullivan counties for adoption. Considerable interest was expressed by the woodland owners present at the organization meeting for the need of a Forestry Products Marketing Committee.

All interested woodland owners are advised to get in touch with one of the appointed committee for any suggestions concerning a marketing organization to serve this area.

Solution Is Sought To Continue Orchestra

Philadelphia, Sept. 29 (AP)—Members of Local 77, A.F.L.-American Federation of Musicians, held a nine-hour meeting yesterday in an attempt to find a solution to the wage dispute which said resulted in cancellation of the 1948-49 season.

Frank R. Luzzi, president of the local, declined comment after the meeting. Orville H. Bullitt, president of the Orchestra Association, said he met with Luzzi yesterday but added nothing had been said or done "to change the picture."

Last Monday, the orchestra—due to open its season Friday—announced cancellation of this winter's concerts. Orchestra officials said the action was decided on because of the union's demand that the minimum wage rate for orchestra players be raised from $110 a week to $125.

When informed of the cancellation, Luzzi said he had received "no counter proposals from the Orchestra Association. The union, he said, had made contract concessions on rehearsal time and radio and concert time.

She also was bequeathed the residuary estate in trust to provide a life income and a summer home at Martha's Vineyard, Mass. The residue is to go to Miss Cornell's descendants upon her death, or, if there are none, to Dr. Cornell's brother, sister and two nephews.

U. S. Gets Nowhere Asking Reds Pay Eleven Billions

Washington, Sept. 29 (AP)—The United States has prodded Russia anew to settle up its $11,000,000,000 lend lease account, but with little success.

State Department officials disclosed yesterday that a new note was sent to Moscow earlier this month urging new face-to-face negotiations for the overdue agreement.

Russian and American negotiators have talked about lend lease off and on without much success since April 30, 1947. The last meeting was in March.

Government officials said the note was sent to the Russian embassy about two weeks ago. But news of its dispatch was kept secret lest publicly jar the tough negotiations then in progress in Berlin and Moscow.

These officials pointed out that Russian negotiators have made no move to hurry the lend lease talks ever since Congress prevented shipment of some equipment Russia needed to complete installation of two lend-lease oil refineries.

In trying to fix the amount of Russia's bill, the United States has requested payment based on a percentage of the cost of lend-lease goods which have peacetime value—such as tractors, trucks, machinery, locomotives and freight cars.

The Russians got a greater proportion of civilian-type lend-lease goods than other countries like Britain and France which already have settled their accounts.

No payment is being asked for the thousands of planes, guns, tanks, and great quantities of explosives shipped to Russia to arm its troops fighting the Nazis on the eastern front.

Moscow's failure to return merchant and naval ships given her under lend-lease has been sharply criticized in this country.

Russia still has 87 American Liberty ships, 28 frigates, three ice breakers and some smaller naval vessels.
